FUTURE OF TURKEY IN EUROPE MAY

BE DECIDED IN A FEW DAYS---

TURKISH TRAIN SEIZED

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Since the capture of the town of Eski Baba by the Bulgarian troops very little news has been received from that region, where the future of Turkey in Europe may be decided within a few days. A short message from Sofia, however, says the Bulgarians have seized a Turkish train on the way to Adrianople. This indicates that the Bulgarian invaders have cut the railroad and thus isolated Adrianople from its base, thereby accomplishing one of the greatest strokes of the campaign.

At the same time the Bulgarian armies are carrying out a wide sweeping movement reaching almost to the shores of the Black Sea and still other Bulgarian columns are completing the circle around Adrianople. How far these combined movements have been successful the outside world is not informed, but the Bulgarians assert that the fate of Adrianople is practically sealed.

Despite the perils of the situation, however, the Turks have not lost all hope of relieving themselves. According to a despatch from Constantinople received here today by way of Kustendje, Rumania, sufficient Turkish reinforcements have now reached the front to enable the Turkish commander-in-chief to assume the offensive. It is stated that three Turkish columns are moving toward the north and that these columns are to be supported by other Turkish troops being taken by water to the Turkish ports on the Black sea.

Whether they will be in time to do any good is problematical. The despatch says, too, that the Turks have recaptured Marasch from the Bulgarians.

In view of the big events in the eastern region of the theatre of war the achievements of the Serbian army have been somewhat lost sight of. The Serbians, from which Europe did not expect much, are now in possession of virtually the whole of old Serbia and in conjunction with the Montenegrins hold the best part of the district of Novi-pazar.

The Montenegrins, hampered by ruin and the stubborn resistance of the Turks, are still hammering away at Tarkoseh and Scutari.

The Bulgarians, Serbians and Montenegrins have taken a total of 10,000 prisoners and 250,000 field guns according to carefully tabulated estimates.

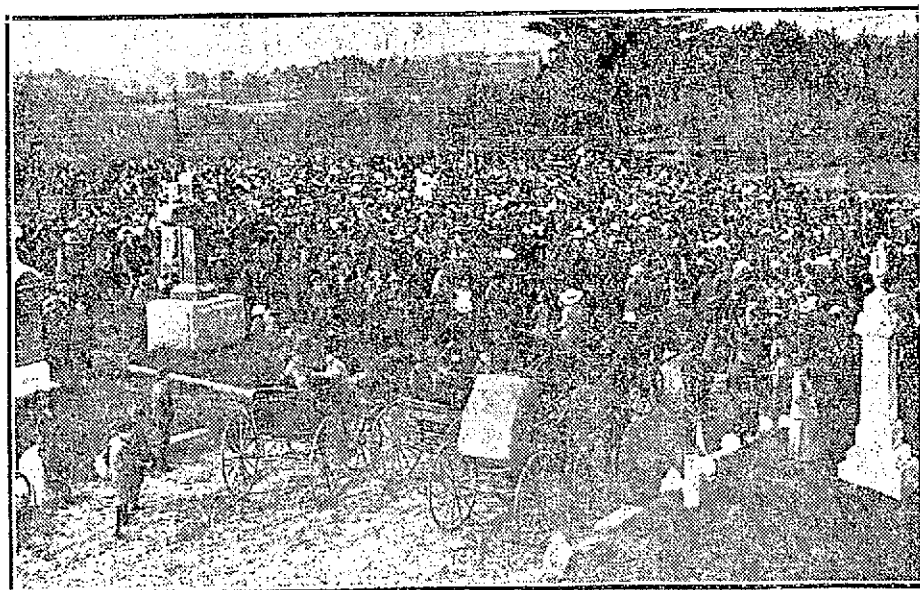

All the invaders of Turkish territory are establishing civil administrations in the towns captured by them, which is taken as further evidence that they have no intention of giving up any of the captured territory without a struggle.

The Greeks who have been left out of some calculations in regard to the future now put forward a claim that a portion of Turkey in which the Greek crown prince's army is operating must fall to them.

In a semi-official statement the Greeks point out that the country mentioned and that to the north has a purely Greek population who naturally expect that under no circumstances

Several Thousand Persons Took Part in Annual Pilgrimage of C. M. A. C. to St. Joseph's Cemetery

C. M. A. C. PILGRIMAGE TO ST. JOSEPH'S CEMETERY

Ideal weather and a very large attendance characterized the annual pilgrimage of the C. M. A. C. yesterday afternoon. Fully three thousand people took part in the ceremony, which consisted of the chanting of the "Libera" at St. Jean Baptiste church and a sermon at the cemetery, where taps were sounded and volleys fired at the graves of deceased Oblate Fathers, and also of the first captain of Garde d'Honneur, the late Moise Cosette. Special cars conveyed the large crowd to the burying ground. The local military guards appeared in their full regalia and escorted the members of the C. M. A. C. They were accompanied by the City band.

The C. M. A. C. members and Gardes d'Honneur, Frontenac, Jacques-Cartier and Sacre-Coeur, as well as the A. G. Cadets, gathered at the C. M. A. C. hall in Franklin street shortly before one o'clock and, headed by the City band, proceeded in St. Jean Baptiste church, where a large congregation had gathered. The main aisles had been reserved for the societies, while the other part of the church was well filled. A "Libera" was sung for the repose of the souls of deceased members, the officiating clergyman being Rev. Joseph M. Blais, O. M. I. The choir was under the direction of Dr. George E. Caisse, Mr. Louis Gullalt presiding at the organ.

At the close of the service the large congregation boarded special cars, 19 in all, and was conveyed to the corner of Corham and Centre streets, where the line was again formed and proceeded to St. Joseph's cemetery. In the rear of the line followed a very large number of automobiles and carriages. At the cemetery the immense crowd gathered at the graves of deceased Oblate Fathers, Rev. A. M. Garin, Rev. Joseph Poirier and Rev. Joseph Carpentier, where a forceful sermon on "Death" was delivered by Rev. Walter Plamance, O. M. I., D. D., of Tewksbury. At the close of the sermon, taps were sounded and a volley was fired by the following squad from Garde d'Honneur: Sergeants, Elie Belley, John Jussaume, Cyrien Desmarais and Eugene Beaulieu.

The "Libera" was sung at the cemetery by Rev. Guillaume Ouellette, O. M. I., chaplain of the association. St. Joseph's and St. Jean Baptiste church choirs were in attendance and they sang appropriate hymns at the grave. The next move was to the grave of the first captain of Garde d'Honneur, the late Moise Cosette. There a volley was fired and taps were sounded, the ceremony closing with prayers.

The guards were in command of their respective captains: Garde d'Honneur, Capt. Joseph L. Lamoureux; Garde Frontenac, Capt. Albert Bergeron; Garde Jacques-Cartier, Capt. George Grenier; Garde Sacre-Coeur, Capt. George Labrie; A. G. Cadets, Capt. Arthur Lamoureux. The procession was headed by Marshal Wilfrid Achin, and the committee in charge of the pilgrimage was composed of the following: Henri Simard, chairman; Wilfrid Achin, secretary; Adolphe Lussier, Arthur Lussier, Charles Chaudonnet and Joseph Payette, ex-officio.

THREE MEN WERE STABBED

Man Who Was Charged With the Crime Entered a Plea of Not Guilty

An altercation took place in Jackson street near the corner of Central street, late Saturday night in which it is alleged a knife was freely used by Lawrence Perry, a Portuguese negro, on James Brennan of 285 Worthen street, John Coss of 2 Wilson avenue of North Billerica, and John Hickey of 483 Central street. Subsequently Perry was arrested and sent to the police station where he was booked for assault with a knife. John Lopez, also colored, who was with Perry was arrested and charged with drunkenness.

Perry and Lopez entered the lunch wagon at the corner of Central and Green streets, about 11 o'clock and while there they got into an argument with two other occupants over the possession of a hamburger steak sandwich. Perry became so boisterous that the young man in charge of the cart ordered the man to leave the place. Refusing to go unassisted he was forcibly ejected and while struggling with those who were pushing him through the doorway he caught his right hand in the door and injured it.

Later Brennan, Coss and Hickey left and they had gone but a short distance when it is alleged Perry set upon them, slashing Brennan across the left arm, he cut Coss on the shoulder and struck Hickey over the left eye. All three men suffered severe injuries, Brennan's being so bad that he had to be attended by a doctor.

Perry then made his escape, but a little later he was located by Patrolman Simon Lane in a hencoop in the rear of a house in Central street, but neither a knife or a razor was found on the prisoner at the time of his arrest, although the doctor who attended Brennan stated that the laceration must have been caused by a sharp-edged instrument. Lopez was also arrested and booked for drunkenness. In court this morning Perry, through his counsel, entered a plea of not guilty, and the hearing of the case was continued until Thursday morning. Lopez pleaded guilty to being drunk and was fined $2.

PRISONERS MADE THEIR ESCAPE

Insane Men at State Farm Forced the Iron Grating in the Day Room.

BRIDGEWATER, Oct. 28.—Forcing the heavy iron grating of a window and scaling a high wall by fashioning bed clothing into a rope ladder, three prisoners last night escaped from the criminal insane department of the state farm here.

Within 10 minutes their escape was discovered, and although all the officers connected with the state farm and the police department throughout southeastern Massachusetts began a systematic hunt at once the men were still at large at a late hour.

They are Alfred Girard, aged 29, Louis B. Rogers, 32, and Wm. Sullivan, 24, who had been confined to the institution for periods varying from 1 to 12 years.

Early last evening the three had been placed in the smoking room in the criminal insane section. Unobserved they made their way into what is known as the day room, adjoining here they succeeded in forcing the iron grating from a window and dropped into the yard.

One of the men had succeeded in snuggling out a quantity of bed clothing. With this fashioned into a crude rope ladder, they scaled the 15-foot wall that surrounds the buildings and one by one dropped over the other side to liberty.

When the absence of the three prisoners was discovered, within a few minutes after they had successfully negotiated the high wall, their method of escape was quickly traced. There was nothing to show in what direction the men had gone once they gained the outside of the wall, and the state farm officers and police of this and surrounding communities had no definite clues on which to work. It is believed that the men kept well together in leaving the vicinity of the institution, however.

Girard had been in the department for the criminal insane since 1905. He was sent here from Cambridge jail, where he had been sent for a term of five years for committing arson.

Rogers had been here a year, coming from Barnstable jail, where he had been sent to serve a six months' sentence on a statutory charge. He is a native of Haverhill.

Sullivan had been confined here since 1906. He was sent to the institution from Charlestown state prison, where he was sent to serve out a sentence of 15 to 20 years for breaking and entering. He is a native of Worcester.

NINE IN AUTO CRASH

All Luckily Escaped Serious Injury

EVERETT, Oct. 28.—Henry B. Fernald, his wife, young son, Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Nichols, all of this city, experienced a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from a trip to New Hampshire last night, when an auto, owned and operated by Arthur W. Woodward of 21 Robertson street, Quincy, crashed head-on into their car.

The accident happened on the easterly incline of the bridge over the Western Division tracks on the Wellington Boulevard, Medford, at 5.10, just previous to the collision Mr. Fernald saw the Woodward car hit another auto, causing a woman to be thrown out and rendered unconscious. The name of the woman could not be learned.

Mr. Fernald was cautiously descending the incline going toward Everett when he saw an auto shoot out from a line of cars going up the incline toward Medford. In attempting to get ahead the car was seen to hit another car, bound toward Everett, on the side and throw out one of the passengers. Mr. Fernald then steered into the curb at the right of the road and applied his brakes just as the Woodward car crashed into it.

Mrs. Nichols was thrown from the auto and landed on her back between the car and a fence. By a miracle she escaped serious injury. Mr. Fernald, who was driving the car, and Mr. Nichols, who was in front with him, were both slightly injured about the legs. Donald Fernald was injured internally.

In the Woodward car were four passengers, none of whom were seriously injured. All received a severe shaking up. The two autos were badly damaged, the radiator being smashed in, wheels broken and front equipment battered to pieces.

BOYS STARTED A FIRE THE LIQUOR SITUATION

In Unoccupied House In Chicago Involved by Court Decision

Mischievous boys started a fire in a pile of paper and other refuse in an unoccupied house in the rear of 450 Market street shortly before noon yesterday, but it was quickly extinguished by the firemen who responded to an alarm from box 125.

The door of the tenement, which had been unoccupied for a long time, was unlocked and it is said that boys living in the vicinity have been playing in the house lately.

The fire was kindled in the rubbish on the floor of an upper room and was extinguished without any damage to the building, with the exception of the smoked walls and ceiling of the room in which it started.

The building is the property of the Hennessy heirs.

A fire started in the boiler of the factory of Patrick O'Leary on Warren street, filled the building with smoke and caused the sending in of a still alarm at 2.40 yesterday afternoon. There was plenty of smoke in the building, but no fire other than that in the boiler.

AUTOISTS WERE DROWNED

Ferry Carrying Machines Struck by Raft

BEHAVIOR, N. J., Oct. 28.—Four members of an automobile party bound for Shawnee, Pa., from their homes in Noble, Pa., were drowned in the Delaware river yesterday while being ferried across from Delaware, N. J.

The dead are Mrs. Leon N. Gilbert, Miss Rebecca Tyson, Mrs. H. W. Trump and Leon Gilbert, Jr., seven years old.

There were eight members in the party, in two automobiles. In one machine were Leon N. Gilbert, his wife, daughter, Miriam Gilbert, and son, Leon Gilbert, Jr. In the other automobile were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Trump, Rebecca Tyson and Nathan Trump.

The party motored up through New Jersey yesterday, and arriving at Delaware drove the machine on the flat-bottomed boat used as a ferry at that point. When the middle of the stream was reached the boat was struck and knocked from its course by a raft.

L. N. Gilbert and H. W. Trump were thrown into the water and swam to the Pennsylvania shore, while Miss Gilbert and Nathan Trump jumped on the raft and managed to wade to the New Jersey shore when the raft swung that way. The others clung to the machines and when the ferryman lost control of the winchless were thrown into deep water.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—When the supreme court of Illinois handed down its decision abolishing 3000 saloons in Chicago, there was great rejoicing among the anti-saloon forces. Closer investigation of the order, however, changes this exultation to dubious fear that much harm has been done. It is said the number of saloons will not be diminished.

This was announced last night by members of the city council who represent the saloon element. They are framing a new ordinance to be hurried through this afternoon, providing that all the saloons now in existence shall continue.

The city already is facing a grave financial crisis because of the loss of $3,000,000 revenue by a recent decision in a railroad tax case.

The supreme court order cutting off 3000 saloon licenses would cut off another $1,000,000 revenue and the city will evolve some means of averting this. It was said last night that all the licenses will be renewed and that the license fee may be increased from $1000 to $1500.

Saloon men are understood to favor the higher rate, provided they are given the privilege of transferring or selling.

Another feature of the supreme court order is the tremendous political power it places in the hands of the mayor. Under the Harkin ordinance, which will be repealed today, licenses, once obtained, had to be renewed unless the holder was guilty of some outrageous conduct. Even then he could transfer the license to some other person. There is a premium of $2500 on some licenses, the new order no old numbers will be recognized and applicants must take what they get in the order of their applications. This means, with five applications for every license to be issued, that the mayor can issue them to his friends and withhold the privilege from his opponents.

In other words every saloon will be a recruiting point and headquarters for the political henchmen of the mayor. Any saloon exhibiting signs of an opposing candidate or permitting any political work not favorable to the administration can be deprived of its license and this can be issued to some man who is loyal.

The new ordinance to be rushed through today is also expected to remove some of the restrictions against saloons within a prescribed distance from schools, churches and parks. This restriction has always been fought by the saloon element and the opportunity now offers to abolish it.

Under the supreme court finding there can be but one saloon to every 500 population, but it is understood the new ordinance will translate this to mean the prohibition in certain districts, and by crowding saloons up in the coveted area around schools, and especially the parks, all the 3000 cut off by the supreme court decision can be taken care of.

The Chicago Liquor Dealers' association and the district council of the Illinois Liquor Dealers' association will hold an emergency meeting to meet the situation.

John H. Haskell, president of the Chicago liquor dealers, said last night that saloon keepers and liquor dealers would stop at nothing to accomplish their end.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George in Odd Fellows hall, President Harry L. Francis presided and considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Two candidates were initiated by the degree team. It was announced that Supreme President Fred Barlow would be unable to be present at the 30th anniversary of the lodge on Nov. 2, owing to illness in his family.

P. G. P. John Orrell paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the late brother William Kershaw. He referred to his untiring work in the lodge during its early years of existence and of his faithfulness to any office or committee to which he was elected. The charter was ordered draped for 30 days in his memory.

The entertainment committee served refreshments after the lodge session and a general good time was enjoyed. The anniversary committee met after the lodge and completed plans for that affair. Nominations of officers will be the principal business at the next meeting, Friday, Nov. 8.

CUT BY GLASS

Louis Lavoie, a Bay State Motorman, Hurt in Rear-End Collision at Haverhill.

HAVERHILL, Oct. 28.—Louis Lavoie of Lawrence, a motorman on the Bay State street railway, was cut about the face by broken glass in a rear-end collision of two electric cars on the state highway near Athletic park on River street yesterday evening.

Lavoie was running on a trailer that left this city at 9.25 last night and after the first car had cleared the switch at the end of the double track on River street the second car, which was a short distance behind, started. The second car made the switch when it jumped ahead on the slippery rails and crashed into the first car. The vestibules of both cars were damaged, the windows being broken, and Lavoie, who stuck to his post and tried to avoid a collision, was cut about the face by the flying glass. Both electric cars were crowded with passengers, but none was injured. Two women passengers whose names were unknown were terrified by the accident and after being quieted they boarded the first car and proceeded.

O'LEARY SHOT

Mystery in Case of Telegrapher, Fired On, is Charged by Section Hand at Charlestown, N. H.

CHARLESTOWN, N. H., Oct. 28.—Arthur P. O'Leary was shot in the breast at 2 o'clock yesterday morning near the B. & M. R. station. It is charged by Giuseppe Alcutto, employed as a section hand on the railroad. The cause of the shooting is a mystery. They had had no altercation and there had been no trouble between them previously.

Surgeons attending O'Leary found the ball, evidently from a 32-caliber revolver, had deflected, lodging under the left arm pit and that he has chance of recovery. Alcutto was arrested by the local officer and will be taken to Charlestown for a hearing.

GOV. WILSON WANTS SENATE

The Democratic Candidate Announces His Plans for the Rest of the Campaign

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson would like to see a democratic majority in the United States senate as well as in the house of representatives. To further that end he issued a statement last night calling upon the voters in the several states where United States senators are to be chosen to vote for the democratic legislative tickets.

The statement says: "I am particularly anxious that the democrats of these states in which senators are to be chosen should remember that the control of the government depends as much upon the majority in the senate as upon the presidency itself. I hope that in those states particularly special attention will be concentrated upon the necessity of obtaining a majority in the state legislatures."

The nominee said the states he had in mind were New Jersey, Colorado, Illinois, Idaho, Iowa, Montana, Delaware, West Virginia, Wyoming and Nevada.

The governor announced last night his plans for the remainder of the campaign as follows:

Monday, Oct. 28.—Leave Princeton in the morning. Speech at Westchester,

Pa., at noon. Speeches at Academy of Music and Convention hall, Philadelphia, at night.

Tuesday.—Speech at Newark, N. J., at night.

Wednesday.—Speeches at Wildwood and Burlington, N. J.

Thursday.—Conference at democratic headquarters, New York, and speech at night at Madison-square Garden.

Friday.—Review college men's Wilson and Marshall clubs' parade, New York. Speech in Monmouth, N. J., at night.

Saturday.—Speeches in New Jersey; plans not yet decided.

Sunday.—At Princeton, N. J.

Monday.—Speeches in New Jersey; plans not yet decided.

The governor will devote practically the remainder of his time in speaking for the legislative ticket in New Jersey in the hope of insuring the election of William Hughes, recently chosen in the democratic primaries for United States senator, as well as a democratic majority in both houses of the legislature, so as to insure a democratic successor in the event of the governor's resignation.

The governor and Mrs. Wilson spent the day walking through the autumn-colored fields around Princeton.

COL. TEDDY ROOSEVELT

Observed 54th Anniversary of Birth

OYSTER BAY, Oct. 28.—Col. Roosevelt's 54th birthday passed so uneventfully as to make it extraordinary.

Despite his venture of Saturday he did not go out of doors at all, and until the hour for the early afternoon dinner arrived he remained entirely idle, reading a little but devoting most of the time to Quentin, who came home from Groton for the anniversary.

Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter, Ethel, went to the Episcopal church for the morning service and were there when Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. with his wife and baby daughter arrived from the city. Dinner lasted less than an hour, and Col. Roosevelt then turned his first attention to the congratulations that poured in yesterday as numerically as Saturday.

John J. Sullivan was the first to get a message through yesterday. Writing from North Abington, Mass., he said: "Every good wish to you on your 54th birthday, and God's blessings as well as all your life."

Col. Roosevelt sent this reply: "Good luck to you, John. Very much pleased by your telegram."

One early came to Sagamore Hill—a painting, which a 60-year-old Boston woman, smartly clad in black silk, carried to the house. She walked the three miles from the station, and when she had given the painting into the butler's custody walked back. She asked that her name be withheld, and it was.

One gift that especially pleased Col. Roosevelt came early in the day. It was Carl Runge's bull moose, a widely known and vivid canvas.

The painting came from A. Hecksher of East Neck, Huntington, L. I. and so gratified the colonel that Mr. and Mrs. Hecksher were invited to tea yesterday afternoon.

The Emilen Roosevelts came to Sagamore Hill soon after dinner. At 3.30 Oscar S. Straus, accompanied by his wife, called to pay his respects. They remained with the colonel but a moment despite his urging that they stay for tea.

It was announced last evening that Col. Roosevelt will not make any speech at Brooklyn Saturday night. His only speech, besides that at Madison Square Garden, will be in the Lyric theatre, Oyster Bay, the night before election.

KANE IS DEAD

Drinks Quart of Whiskey at One Pull and Then Staggered Home to His Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In winning a bet that he could drink a quart of whiskey at one pull, Edward Kane lost his life yesterday. As he died in agony at his home to which he had staggered from an East Side saloon after downing the whiskey, he told his wife what he had done and charged that John Mann had made the wager and had bought the whiskey for him.

The police arrested Mann on a technical charge of having been implicated in Kane's death.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

Solicitor Earl Reviews Its Operations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Solicitor Charles Earl, of the department of commerce and labor, has just submitted to Secretary Nagel, of that department, a compilation of his opinions dealing with the Government Workmen's Compensation act, under which compensation is granted for injuries to artisans or laborers employed by the United States. This is the first time since its enactment, sixteen states have passed laws of a similar character, and the number is likely to be increased during the coming sessions of state legislatures. The very general public interest which attaches to such legislation led Secretary Nagel, last July, to direct the publication of the solicitor's opinion under this act, as illustrating the construction and application of a law providing compensation as contrasted with a law giving a right to sue for damages. The opinions are now in course of publication by the department, which will issue the volume within a week or two.

The money benefits paid under this act between August 1, 1908, when it became effective, and December 1, 1911, aggregated $704,514.50 paid to injured persons on account of non-fatal injuries and $112,879.92 paid to surviving dependents on account of fatal injuries. Since December, 1911, additional benefits amounting to nearly $300,000 have been paid. During the first year after the passage of the act, 1895 claims were submitted, of which 1689 were allowed. During the second year, 2524 claims were submitted and 2499 allowed.

The present statute applies only to artisans or laborers employed in certain specified branches of the public service, or in certain hazardous occupations under the government. Any workman covered by the act who is injured in the course of his employment is entitled to receive for one year thereafter, unless sooner able to resume work, the same pay as if he continued to be employed, except where the injury was due to his own negligence or misconduct. If the injury results in death during the year, the compensation allowed is payable to the widow or children or dependent parent. The act is administered by the secretary of commerce and labor, who is authorized to decide all questions of negligence or misconduct, who is made the sole judge as to when a claim is established, and whose decision is final. Payment of compensation under the act is made from the ordinary appropriations for salaries.

The solicitor emphasizes that feature of the act which permits of the establishment of a simple and direct mode of procedure, whereby technicalities and delays are avoided and relief can be speedily given, and the further feature, whereby the government is forbidden to exempt itself from liability by any contract, agreement, rule or regulation. In this connection he says:

"The prompt payment of compensation at a time when the bread winner is stricken and money is most needed, without forcing the claimant to pursue an elaborate, expensive and dilatory process of proof, is one of the striking benefits of the act. Being in its nature a remedial statute, it is rightly susceptible of a liberal interpretation, in order to bring home the benefits intended. Such has been the interpretation regularly applied by the secretary of commerce and labor, without, of course, disregarding any of the limitations of the statute, or extending it beyond its terms."

In speaking further of the nature and benefits of the act, the solicitor states that it marks a distinct step in advance, and substitutes an enlightened modern view for certain obsolete doctrines of the common law, since it not only gives a remedy where none existed before, but it waives the right of the government to exemption from liability and dispenses with the necessity of appeals to congress in individual cases. He says in this regard:

"The solicitor notes that over 17,000 accidents were reported under the act during the first three years of its operation, whereas only about 800 claims were filed, due to the limited scope of the law, and strongly urges this as an indication of the need of extending the benefits of the act by supplementary legislation. Such legislation has in fact been recommended by the secretary of commerce and labor, and measures designed to enlarge the scope of the act are now pending in congress."

SALEM, Oct. 28.—Because of the continued illness of John W. Carter, a juror in the murder trial of Elton, Giovannitti and Caruso, the case was again postponed today until Wednesday; Carter, who was taken sick with grippe Friday, night was reported to be improved, but his physician advised that he remain in his room for two days more at least.

The defendants again consented to the separation of the sick man from the other jurors.

SMASHED FIVE WINDOWS

Man Was Ejected From St. Charles Hotel

Considerable excitement was caused in Middlesex street about 10.30 o'clock this morning when Thomas Shea after being ejected from the bar at the St. Charles hotel turned and smashed five glass windows. Those who witnessed Shea in his glass demolishing act, claim that he had Currie Nation beaten to a standstill.

Shea, it is said, entered the St. Charles hotel bar this morning and ordered a drink, but thas much as the man was intoxicated, the bartender refused to serve him. He insisted on having a drink and became so boisterous that he was ordered out of the place.

He left the saloon quietly, but upon reaching the sidewalk he noticed a broom handle sticking out of a rubbish barrel. Taking the broomstick he started to smash the windows in the front of the saloon and when he was finally overpowered it was found that he had smashed three large windows and two smaller ones.

He was arrested by Sergt. Maguire and Patrolman Kilroy and sent to the police station where he was booked for drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass.

THE NO-LICENSE LEAGUE

Favors Opening Saloons at 8 O'Clock

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The Massachusetts No-License league is out to change the opening hour for saloons in licensed cities and towns of this state. The league will present before the next legislature a bill to have the hour at which the sale of liquor may begin in the morning changed from the present hour, 6 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

The advocates of this bill are using the workmen's compensation act as a club, urging that most accidents in shops and factories occur between 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and that the effect of alcohol is most apparent between three and four hours after liquor is taken into the system.

This proposed legislative battle will be one of the most important matters to come before the sixth annual convention of the No-License league tomorrow in Ford building, Boston. The Rev. Dr. O. P. Gifford of Brookline will introduce the matter in his address on "Results of the Bar and Bottle Law and the Next Legislative Step." The conference will open at 2 p. m.

In connection with the conference there will be a no-license exhibition of the Massachusetts league and special exhibitions from several cities and towns of the state. Besides the Rev. Dr. Gifford, there are several prominent public men who will address the conference. These include Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, who will preside at the evening session; Mayor J. Edward Barry of Cambridge, on "A Quarter of a Century of No-License in Cambridge;" Mayor William P. Connelly of Lynn, on "Five No-License Years in Lynn;" and John T. Shea, past secretary of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America. The no-license conference tomorrow will award prizes to the individual who comes from the greatest distance in Massachusetts to the convention. In announcing the conference the league has issued a statement relative to its scope and work, also declaring that its work comes chiefly under local option, and that temperance or total abstinence is solely a matter of personal policy.

LATEST INSECTS

To Be Branded As Carriers of Typhoid Fever Germs Are Cockroaches and Bedbugs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Cockroaches and bedbugs are the latest insects to be branded as carriers of typhoid fever germs, according to Surgeon R. E. Riggs of the United States navy. Experiments on the cruiser Newark some time ago made Dr. Riggs suspicious of bugs in general and of these two classes in particular. He tells of an outbreak of typhoid at a naval post on an isolated island where he was in charge of the water and food supply. Careful study was made to discover the cause for the alarming spread of the disease and the cockroaches and bedbugs finally were convicted by Dr. Riggs as the distributors.

WILLIAM WILBY IS DEAD

Well Known Belt Manufacturer Passed Away

good health and spirits. The following day he complained of feeling indisposed and remained in the house, while yesterday the end came peacefully. Mr. Wilby was 62 years of age and was born in Littleton, Laverage, Eng., and came to Lowell at the age of 16 years. He learned the business of beltmaking and when but a young man entered business on his own account on a small scale. Through progressive business methods and strict honesty in all of his dealings his business quickly extended from a local field to cities and towns far removed, causing him to establish his present finely equipped plant at 63 Washington street. He retained an active interest in business up to the time of his death, though for the past several years his sons have had his management. Personally, the deceased was a most lovable character of sunny disposition, kindly and sympathetic, generous and charitable. His private life like his business career was exemplary. He was essentially a home-body, and while widely known and popular found his greatest enjoyment at the family hearth. He is survived by a widow, Elizabeth J., and six children, the latter being Messrs. Chester E., John G. and Albert E. Wilby; Mrs. Adelle M. Chase of Somerville, Mrs. D. A. Goodwin of Lynn and Miss Hattie Wilby of this city. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

WOMAN 105 YEARS OLD

Tried to End Her Life
by Drowning

WORCESTER, Oct. 26.—Margaret Fleming, aged 105, tried to commit suicide early yesterday morning by drowning.

Mrs. Fleming, who lives with one of her daughters at 103 Gage street, got up early before any of the other members of the household. Thinly dressed, she left the house and walked several hundred yards to Bell pond. Into this pond she went and slowly until the water was up to her neck, when she lost her balance and went under.

Charles A. Belstrom ran to the rescue, dashing into the water and bringing her back to land. He was helped by Lewis A. Harris, who had heard him shout for help. The two men covered Mrs. Fleming with their coats. She was then rushed to the city hospital in an ambulance, where, on account of her age, her condition was considered serious.

TO CUT THE SALARIES

Of Players in the World's Series

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—A plan to cut the salary of players in the world's series games will be given serious consideration by the national commission this winter. August Herrmann is one of the advocates of the scheme, which would limit each member of the winning team to $100,000 while the losers would get $75,000 each.

The money, according to the Herrmann idea, will be deducted from 50 per cent of the first four games, the balance to be distributed equally among the players of the other 14 major league teams. Under such a plan, the world series would provide a nice bonus for all the major league players, even fallenders, and it is believed would also put an end to squabbling and possible scandal.

HARD LORE CASE

Museum Officials Failed To Appear Against the Thief and Case Is Thrown Out

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The mystery of the hard lore books that strangely disappeared from the national museum and which were found in the possession of a man in Illinois has been deepened by the failure of the museum officials to appear against Harry Belandier, a former employee, whose arrest they had caused. The case was thrown out of court Saturday for lack of prosecution and thus far no explanation has been vouchsafed by the officials for their action in causing Belandier's arrest. The books, which were rare volumes were highly prized and their loss caused a small sensation.

VALUABLE GEMS LOST

Were Taken From Store in Boston

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—With the issuing of a circular by Supt. Pierce of the police department Saturday, a big jewel robbery from Smith, Patterson & Co., Summer street, first became known. The stolen jewels are said to be valued at thousands of dollars.

No mention of the time the jewels disappeared is made in the circular, which has been sent to the police departments of many cities and towns. The police of Lynn have been asked to make a careful search of every pawnshop in that city, as information which has reached the police indicated that $4000 worth of the lost jewels were in that city.

CHILDREN IN PARADE

Of Strikers at Little Falls, New York

LITTLE FALLS, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Children of the striking textile mill workers marched with their elders in a parade yesterday. Several hundred men and women were in line. The little ones carried banners bearing inscriptions asking strikers to stay away from the mills and help their fathers and mothers' cause. Some of the striking women carried their babies in their arms. The parade was orderly.

Strike Leader B. L. Legere of Lawrence, Mass., in a public speech called the parade a "militia" of the country as well as the courts, especially those in this city. He said that it was despicable for workmen to join the militia. In speaking of the Elton and Giovanni trial in Salem he bitterly arraigned the prosecution. Because the strike is expected through mass picketing in front of the local mills the coming week, a force of 25 special officers has been added to the local force. The strike leaders, emphasizing their declared desire to prevent disorder, have issued instructions for the strikers to keep their hands in their pockets while on picket duty.

The prisoners are Joseph Buonomo, James Matteo and Francisco Pizzicchi. Unknown to the prisoners an Italian detective was placed in a cell adjoining them and overheard them "framing up" a story they agreed to tell the police as to why the woman was killed. HOLYOKE MAN WAS FINED $25

He Was Charged With Operating Auto While Under the Influence of Liquor

Herman Groise, a young man who belongs in Holyoke, came to Lowell in an automobile yesterday and invited two young women to take a "joy ride."

They accepted the invitation but they had not traveled very far before they were anxious to leave. The car for Groise was taking every corner on two wheels and making the straightaways at a rate of speed which would make Barney Oldfield sit up and take notice.

Groise went along Walker street with the throttle wide open and tried to make the turn into Pawtucket street without reducing speed with the result that the car skidded and landed on the sidewalk on the opposite side of the street. Fortunately the car did not overturn.

Patrolman Wesley Wilson, who was in the immediate vicinity placed Groise under arrest but the two young women made a hasty escape. In police court this morning Groise was charged with drunkenness and unlawfully operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor. He was found guilty on both complaints and fined $25 for operating the car, the case of drunkenness being placed on file.

ing to provide support for his wife, was placed in the custody of the probation officer.

Drunken Offenders

He appealed to the court for a chance to reform, stating that he was taken ill with a cold in Northampton and, fearing that he might contract pneumonia, upon arriving in this city he met a friend, who advised him to take some "whiskey." He did so and as a result he became so intoxicated that he was placed under arrest. The court sentenced him to three months in jail.

William Percell, Edward J. Mooney, Lawrence Haley, John H. Brock, James Gallagher, James Craig, Arthur Gav and Alphonse D. Hamblitt, charged with drunkenness, were fined $5 each. Hamblitt was given one month in which to pay his fine.

Seven first offenders were fined $3 each.

Sullivan had testified that the defendant was drunk when arrested on Saturday night, the court found the man guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $3.

SENTENCED TO DEATH INTERVENTION IN CUBA

Minister Had Made Complete Confession The Cabinet to Discuss Matter Tomorrow

GREENVILLE, S. C., Oct. 28.—Found guilty of misconduct with three little girls in the South Carolina. Odd Fellows Home, of which he was superintendent, Rev. Thurston U. Vaughn, once prominent as a minister, was sentenced to death in the electric chair on Dec. 29 at the state prison at Columbia.

The trial was brought to a close when Vaughn made a complete confession. In finding the verdict of guilty the jury took only four minutes and made no recommendations for mercy for which Vaughn had pleaded after his confession. Tears streamed down the face of Judge Purdy, named by Gov. Blease as special judge for the trial, and many jurors, court officials and spectators alike, made no pretense of hiding their tears, as Vaughn, pale and broken, acknowledged his crime. A motion for a new trial was overruled by Judge Purdy and sentence was passed immediately upon the former minister.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The treasury department wants to buy a monkey. For several days the government has been making a fruitless effort to secure any kind of a monkey, however, to be used by the department of health service for experiment in its crusade against infantile paralysis, which already has established the fact that the ordinary stable fly is a carrier of the disease. Three monkeys thus inoculated have died and one more is necessary to complete the study. The difficulty in securing it has led treasury officials to the conclusion that monkeys are scarce here.

After speaking in Bangor the governor will board his private car and start for Connecticut via Portland and Boston, but he will not talk in either of these cities.

COL. ROOSEVELT

The colonel went to the stable and saw Sirdar, his favorite riding horse, for the first time since he was shot. Sirdar neighed in recognition of his master, who fed him lumps of sugar.

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Oct. 28.—Col. Roosevelt was stronger this morning but he was not gaining strength as rapidly as his physicians hoped he would. Col. Roosevelt was anxious to ride in the open air in his automobile to New York on Wednesday but his physicians feared that the jolting of the car would be unfavorable to his condition and he will go by train. A special car has been engaged for the trip.

Col. Roosevelt will remain in New York just long enough to make his speech, returning to his car directly afterward for the trip home.

During the forenoon Col. Roosevelt put the finishing touches on his Wednesday night speech. He then took up his correspondence. Several thousand letters and telegrams received while he was in the hospital and in Chicago and since his return to Oyster Bay remain unanswered and the colonel probably will be unable to catch up until after the election.

WOOD AND TESREAU LEAD LEAGUES

Former Has Best Record in Am. League, While Latter Tops National Organization

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The remarkable run of victories tagged with Joe Wood's name the past season looks as if it would clasp down the modern record for major leagues for many years. Thirty-four wins out of the 39 games for which he was held responsible is a mark that even the Red Sox star himself is not likely to duplicate. It utterly annihilates the previous record of "Wild Bill" Donovan of Detroit, made in 1907, of 25 won, 4 lost, percentage .862.

The only record extant that approaches it is that made in 1875 by Spalding in the National league, who played in 33 games and finished the season with a mark of .859. Donovan's mark was the best of modern days, by which is meant the reorganization period since 1875.

But holding the top place in games won is not the sole achievement of the Red Sox pitching champion. According to the official records his average of strikeouts for the 32 games in which he pitched is six per game. While Johnson of Washington leads him in total number of strikeouts, his average is slightly below Wood's. Walsh of Chicago, who is tied with Wood at 253 strikeouts, averaged a little over four per game.

Only two American league pitchers passed the hundred mark in number of balls—Kaler, with 112, and Dubing with 108. Dubing holds the palm for wild pitches, with 14, Johnson being second, with 12. Walsh was the dustiest pitcher of the circuit, having worked in 61 games.

In the National league Tesreau of New York holds first honors in number of games won, Cheney of Chicago taking second and Hendrix of Pittsburgh third place. O'Toole of Pittsburgh and Tyler of Boston were the most prodigious with their passes, the former handing out 154, the latter 127. The strikeout record goes to Alexander of the Phillies, with a mark of 135. Marquard of the Giants coming second, with 115. Cheney and Ryan were the league's wild fingers, the former being charged with 19 and the latter with 13 wild pitches.

The record of Mathewson of the Giants was phenomenal in the matter of steadiness. In the 44 games in which he had a part, he gave only 33 passes, hit only two batters and had only two wild pitches. He measured up well to the league's strikeout record, with 132 to his credit.

Lowell High School Eleven Defeated the Boston

Latin School Team by a Score of 14 to 0 Saturday

CAWLEY SCORING A TOUCHDOWN IN LAST PERIOD OF GAME

The Lowell High school football team stood upon the much touted Boston Latin school eleven Saturday afternoon on the Washington park gridiron, and took a 14 to 0 fall out of the visitors. Many have expressed the opinion that the Latin school is represented by the best outfit of any of the schools of the city, and if this is true, the local boys outplayed "Boston's Best" in every department of the game.

A striking improvement in the Lowell players' work both on the offensive and defensive, featured Saturday's exhibition. Throughout the greater part of the game, the front line of the home team was as a stone wall to their opponents who could effect no substantial gains. That dependable combination, Carter and Trull at the ends broke up many formations of the visitors almost before they had started.

Concave's treatment of the spectators to some brilliant playing in the backfield. To the captain-backback goes the credit for both touchdowns, the first of which he accomplished after a sensational catch of Snyder's well placed forward pass on the 20-yard line early in the first period. The second tally was made in the third period when after Cawley and Bowers had brought the ball close to the goal of their opponents by effective line rushes, the Lowell captain carried it over, making the score 14 to 0 and this was not changed during the remainder of the game.

In the first half of the contest, long gains characterized almost every play of the local eleven while the Boston men could not seem to play together effectively. Nearly everyone expected the boys from the Hub to walk through the home line from the start and many expressions of surprise were mingled with the cheers when Lowell began to show her unquestionable superiority. Coach Mahoney's boys were evidently in the best possible condition Saturday and every man was a credit to the trainer.

The back field of the Lowell eleven displayed extraordinary strength, especially when on the offensive, for when Boston had the ball, their runners seldom got as far as the backfield. Brunelle, Bowers and Bailey waded through the opposing line for long distances and it seemed as though nothing could stop them. On the Boston Latin team, Capt. Craven, Green and Gersumky were most prominent. At times the visitors made steady advances, but these never were consistent.

The forward pass was effectively employed several times Saturday afternoon by Capt. Cawley's men and they made several exceedingly long gains on this play. The Snyder to Cawley combination was in fine working order and the little quarterback seemed able to place the ball wherever he pleased and the fullback was always right there to pull it down out of the air. Boston showed up best in the third period.

Score: Lowell 14; Boston Latin 0. Touchdowns: Cawley 2; goals from touchdowns: Carter 2. Umpire, Dufray; referee, Neeson; head linesman, Hoxey; timers, Mr. Irish for Lowell, Mr. Southworth for Boston. Time, two 19 and two 8-minute periods.

Indians vs. Dorchester Prep

The Indians of this city easily defeated the representatives of the Dorchester Prep school at Dorchester Saturday afternoon at the old fair grounds, the score being 16 to 0. Last season the Indians were the champions of Lowell and they should enjoy that distinction again this year for they undoubtedly have a well balanced team. In weight they had a slight advantage over the visitors, but they also showed that they were superior to the Dorchester players in speed as well. The lineup of the Indians was as follows: Laurin, re; Quinn, rt; Moran, rg; Varum, c; Murphy, lg; Russ, lb; Jenkins, lg; O'Farrell, qb; James Flynn, lib; Donnellan, rlb; Toy, fb.

THE SUN'S DAILY PICTURE PUZZLE

BECKER SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

He Declares That Jack Rose Sought to Be His Stool Pigeon

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—From his cell in the Tombs, the cell he is soon to leave for the death house at Sing Sing, Charles Becker, the ex-lieutenant of police, now awaiting sentence to death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, issued a statement last night in which he protested before God that he was innocent of the crime for which he stands convicted.

There was a note of deep despair in the story of the unhappy prisoner told, and he frankly admitted that at this stage in his fortunes he did not know of anything that he could say that would help him and he realized that the public, in general, had come to look upon him as the very worst rascal in the world.

Becker told his story following a three hours' talk he had with his wife, a talk through the bars of the counsel room, for since the verdict that dooms him, bars must always separate the condemned man from those with whom he communicates. Becker was permitted, through a special order of Charles Commissioner Whitely, to spend most of what he had last Sunday afternoon in New York in conversation with his deeply distressed wife. Instead of having to talk to her through the bars of his own cell, where the curious among the prisoners might watch Becker was taken to the counsel room and through the barred door of that room the former head of the strong arm squad and his faithful wife discussed the great tragedy that has come to darken the life of one and perhaps to end the life of the other.

Mrs. Becker, giving every appearance of mental and physical strain, appeared at the Tombs shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She had not long to wait for her husband, who was soon brought down by Head Keeper Cummings. Mrs. Becker remained until the very last minute permitted under the prison rules, which was a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Then Cummings opened the door of the counsel room and Becker came out quickly, caught her in his arms and kissed her time and time again.

Slowly Mrs. Becker started for the prison door that opens out into Centre street. Becker stood for a moment watching her and when she disappeared out into the street, he returned sadly to his cell. Then it was that a note was sent to him by the newspaper men. At first he declined to see them, for he said that he had nothing to say. His dinner waited him, and after eating that he changed his mind and sent down word he would see the reporters.

Becker that greeted the reporters at the bars of cell No. 112. At last he appeared to have lost some of his haughtiness, and even some of the iron nerve that had caused the trial onlookers to wonder at the strength of the man.

"I am a man," Becker began with great deliberation, "who stands convicted of the awful crime of murder in the first degree. I am a man almost without hope and after all is said and done, I do not know anything that I say that will do me any good. From all that has been said about me the world would think that I was the worst man in it."

"Yet, had I been permitted to take the stand in my own behalf and to have told my own story I believe that the public sentiment that is now arrayed against me would be very different."

"What would you have told?" Becker was asked.

"For one thing," the condemned man replied, "I would have explained the true story of my relations with Jack Rose. It was my misfortune to have to know that man. He was what we of the police call a stool-pigeon, and stool pigeons have been used in the police department of New York since the days of Inspector Byrnes."

"I never in all the time that I knew Jack Rose gave him one dollar for what he did for me as a stool-pigeon. I met him under peculiar circumstances. It was in October of last year, the 11th day of that month, to be exact. At that time Jack Rose ran a house in Second avenue not far from Tenth street, and on the date named and in the line of duty I raided his house."

"After the raid Rose came to me and offered his services to me if I would permit him to run his place unmolested. I told him in answer to that proposition that I could not, and, furthermore, that I would not agree to any such thing. Then Rose asked me if I would deal gently with his friends. He wanted to know if I would show them any consideration for the assistance he tendered, and my answer, as in the first case, was 'no'."

Denies Rosenthal Friendship
"Did you really and honestly get legal evidence against Rosenthal's place?" Becker was asked.

"So help me God I did, and I am a man convicted of murder in the first degree," was his solemn answer.

"How well did you know Herman Rosenthal?" was another question asked Becker.

"I knew his reputation and his capabilities," was the answer, "for getting police in trouble. I knew that he was the man who got Deputy Commissioner Driscoll out of the department. I knew of half a dozen other policemen, all of whom he had gotten into hot water, and, knowing this, I leave it to any fair thinking man if I wouldn't have been crazy drunk to have made such a man my friend, and I was neither crazy nor drunk."

"Did Rose call you up at your home the night of the murder, subsequent to the commission of the crime?" Becker was asked.

"Rose may have called me up," Becker replied, "but I ask you, is it reasonable to believe that he would use as he says he did, a public telephone number to tell me of a murder, when he knew my private number, unless even then the conspiracy was being hatched to place the blame on me?"

"Did you talk to Rose that night?"

"Yes, I do."

"Do you think that Rose is so vicious a man as all that?"

"No, I did not think that," Becker answered, "but when he took the stand and said he had no regrets, no pangs of conscience, I then realized that he was vicious in every way."

Acquaintance Forced on Him
Just before the interview ended Becker once reverted to the dead gambler. His reference was to the time that he and Mrs. Becker and Rosenthal and Mrs. Rosenthal dined at the Elks' club.

"Rosenthal's acquaintance," Becker said, "was forced upon me by a brother officer, who introduced him. It is ridiculous and absolutely false to say that I ever put my arms around him and told him he could get me up at 3 a. m. if necessary, to help him."

"Did you ever apply to be relieved of the command of the strong arm squad?"

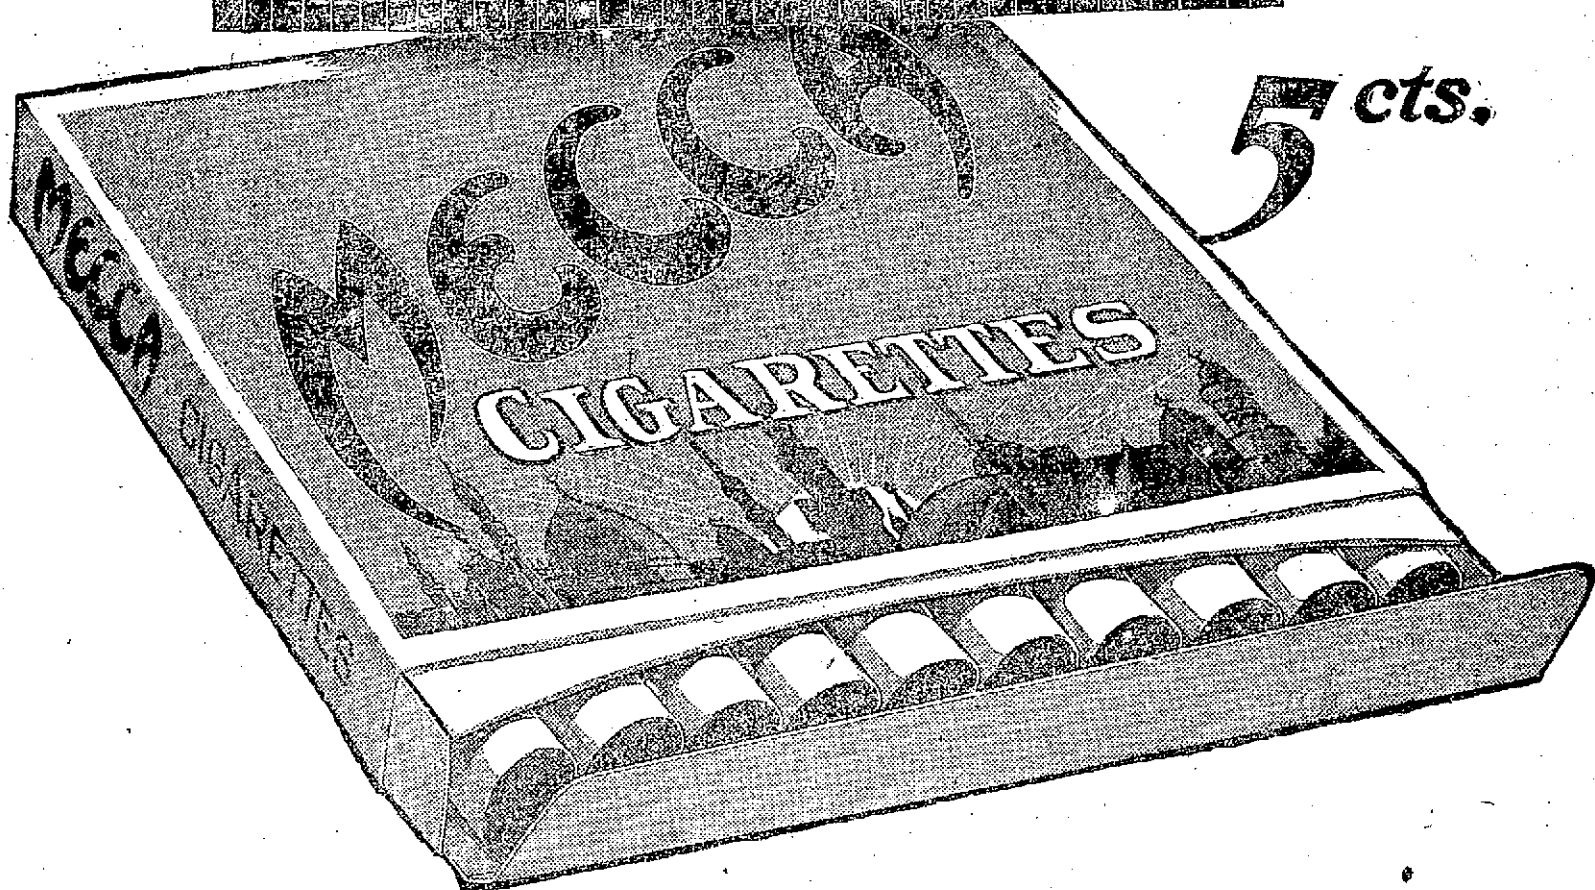

"I did on three occasions, and I deeply regret that Commissioner Waldo was not permitted to testify to that fact," Becker answered, and with that answer the interview ended.

SEIZED AT GATEHOUSE

Man and Boy Saved on
Dam's Brink

CLAREMONT, Oct. 28.—Frank Moore, 9 year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of Broad street, this town, was almost miraculously saved from drowning in Sugar river at 5 p. m. yesterday owing to the bravery of Albert C. Campbell, who jumped into the river from a bluff and narrowly escaped being carried over a 30-foot dam with the boy.

The boy went out rowing on the river, which was much swollen by recent rains. He found his boat being swept toward the dam and himself threatened with death should he be carried over and dashed on the rocks below, so he jumped into the river and attempted to swim ashore.

His cries were heard by Campbell, who belongs in Waterbury, Vt., but works in Windsor, and was merely a visitor there yesterday. When he reached the boy the latter seized him and the two were swept rapidly toward the dam.

Within 12 feet of the dam is a penstock gatehouse with a window. The only person within sight of the imperiled man and boy was Owen Pardiss, in the gatehouse. He leaned out of the window over the river, and the man and boy floated so near that he was able to catch Campbell by the hand.

Campbell, who was holding the now unconscious boy, passed him to Pardiss. Pardiss then helped Campbell, who was nearly exhausted, through the window also. The boy finally recovered so that he could be taken home.

It is said that rest will bring him complete recovery.

The boat in which the boy had been rowing was carried over and dashed to pieces on the rocks.

I. W. W. DEMONSTRATION

Was Prevented by the
Lawrence Police

LAWRENCE, Oct. 28.—The police Saturday afternoon put a stop to the attempt of I. W. W. leaders, in defiance of the authorities, to have a funeral parade for John Smalsky, who died early in the week as the result of injury sustained by an assault.

Instead of escorting the hearse to the church and then to the cemetery, headed by the band, the I. W. W. members and their friends were crowded onto the sidewalks and deprived of their music.

Eight hundred or 1000 followed in this manner, while three squads of a dozen policemen each marched among them to see that instructions were not violated. The affair passed off without untoward incident, although the situation looked squally when 50 patrolmen, under Asst. City Marshal John Sheehan and several sergeants, broke up the parade that was forming in front of 96 Lawrence street, where Smalsky lived.

Smalsky was assaulted a week ago today following a bar-room row between two groups of patrons, who were ejected. Smalsky was knocked down sustaining a fracture of the skull.

The I. W. W. leaders, who had been accused of all sorts of violence during the textile strike here, charged that Smalsky had been attacked because of his I. W. W. affiliations. The police are investigating and two arrests as accessories have been made.

Arrest 18 Men

LYNN, Oct. 28.—Eighteen Chinamen were arrested by the Lynn police last night in a gambling raid on the basement of a Chinese grocery store at 516 Washington street.

With their prisoners the police took away a heavily barred door which they had been obliged to break down to gain entrance. This they will produce in court as evidence.

ALLISON M'FARLAND

Arraigned on Counterfeiting Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Allison McFarland, recently tried for wife murder in Newark, N. J., and acquitted, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Shields today charged with counterfeiting. He was arrested under the name of Allison Mason. When asked to plead he said: "If I committed any offense I did it without any intent." McFarland was remanded until later this afternoon to await the arrival of his lawyer, Frank McBurnett. He was fixed temporarily at $5000. He made this explanation of his having dug and coins in his room when the secret service men arrested him.

"I was experimenting with a process for duplicating medals or jewelry for commercial purposes and never made more than half a coin. My process will not produce a whole coin and I have no intention of making or passing counterfeit money."

ROBBED OF CLOTHING

Thieves Strip Man in a Chicago Street

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Robert L. Harris was held up and robbed of his money and clothing last night after he had left a theatre, and the victim related alarm among pedestrians by looking among billboards and trees trying to cover his nakedness with shadows.

Harris tried to find a policeman, but every time he appeared on the street the sight of women pedestrians drove him back to shelter. Some one finally saw him and called a policeman. Harris was taken to a police station in his under garments and sent home in a patrol wagon in a blanket.

Harris told the police that two men met him as he was passing an alley entrance and at the points of revolvers made him follow them into the alley and turn over his valuables and cash. They were about to let him go when one of them decided to take Harris' shoes. The other robber claimed Harris' overcoat, and one garment followed another, the robbers complimenting him with mock politeness on the quality of his garments as they added him to remove them.

Vesper Country Club Notes
A banquet of the class of '93 of Technology is to be held this evening at the club. Mr. E. B. Carney, the class president is in charge of the banquet and practically all of the class will attend. The speaker of the evening is to be Mr. Robbins, the superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad. An elaborate dinner has been prepared and the majority of the class will assemble to enjoy an informal evening.

Mr. Brown is now changing the summer golf course into the winter course. This is done every year, the trees and greens being changed. By doing this the summer course which is used a great deal more, is kept in excellent condition. The course itself remains about the same length, some holes being shortened and others lengthened. Saturday ended the final tournament of the year and all of the members are loud in their praise about the fine schedule arranged by the golf committee.

The awnings are being removed from the porch and it is now being enclosed. This gives the piazza a great deal more room and at the same time makes a delightful sun parlor.

Wednesday evening a dinner dance is to be held at the club which will be attended by many of the members and their families. Elaborate preparations have been made by Mr. Clough and all those who appear are assured of a splendid time. An excellent dinner is to be served which will be followed by dancing and whist.

Hibbard's orchestra is to furnish the music. Everyone expecting to come should arrive at their tables immediately. All those not coming to dance may take part in the whist tournament. Appropriate prizes will be awarded to the winners. The club house is to be decorated with oak leaves, cornucopias, pumpkins, in fact, everything appropriate to a Halloween party. Halloween surprises have been arranged by the entertainment committee which consists of Harry G. Pollard, Perry D. Thompson and William G. Brown.

NOT SALTS AND PILLS. CASCARETS

If constipated, bilious, headachy, stomach sour

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste, and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

She Drowned Herself and Her Child

EASTON, Oct. 28.—The body of Mrs. Olga Erickson, the Brockton widow who drowned herself and 5-year-old daughter, Gladys, last Friday night, was found yesterday in Langwater pond. Police recovered the remains with grappling irons after a search of many hours. A part of the pond was drained after the child had been discovered floating on the water Saturday.

Patrolman Downey found the mother's body in five feet of water near where the child's body was found.

That the mother, crazed by the killing of her husband four years ago in the George E. Keith company factory, rushed into the waters of the pond Friday night with little Gladys in her arms, was the belief of Patrolman Downey. He said the arms were clasped when the body was found, indicating that she had held the little one to the last.

FULLER'S JAW BROKEN

Be Was Then Attacked by Hold-Up Men

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Held up on a dark and lonely path, not 200 yards from the Winthrop Centre station, Albert W. Fuller, 55 years old, of Johnson Avenue, Winthrop, fought furiously Saturday night, but without avail, although it was not until his assailants had broken his jaw that they were able to relieve him of $32 in bills.

Mr. Fuller left the train at the station just after 10 o'clock, and started up the path which gives a short cut to Pleasant street. About half way up two men jumped from the bushes and confronted him. Before Mr. Fuller could cry out the two had grabbed him and started through his pockets. He struggled so hard that one finally struck him on the jaw. His arms were then plied by one, and the other searched all his pockets. In the scuffle one of the men lost his cap, and after they had disappeared into the bushes again Mr. Fuller took it to the police station. The East Boston and Revere police were immediately notified, and the Winthrop patrolmen got orders to take into custody any man they saw hatless.

REV. GEO. F. KENNGOTT

His Farewell Sermon at First Trinitarian

Dr. George F. Kennigott preached his farewell sermon at the First Trinitarian church Sunday morning, and there was a large congregation present.

Dr. and Mrs. Kennigott left Lowell today, and Mr. Kennigott will take up his work in Los Angeles, Cal., Sunday, Nov. 3.

Dr. Kennigott's sermon was preached from the text found in Second Corinthians, 13:11:

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace be with you."

In part, he said: "Lowell was a great commercial center, a city of mixed races, of great enterprise, of virtue and vice mingled. Paul never doubted that he had seen Jesus face to face. Jesus was as plain and real to him as he was to John or Peter and Paul became a great missionary to the Gentiles. He had gone to Athens with its learning, and had some measure of success; but he seemed to love particularly Corinth and the Corinthian Christians.

"Though facing difficulties, in prison often, Paul said boldly in the night, and his faith was so implicit that he never wavered in his preaching of the gospel. Now he is bidding these Corinthian Christians farewell; and very beautifully and suggestively, the American revisers insert for the word 'farewell' the word 'rejoice.' For Paul had a deep sense of joy and satisfaction in the work which he was able to do through Christ with these fellow Christians at Corinth.

"For this church I see today, with the eyes of Christian faith, a future more beautiful and brilliant even than its past. For God, who has neither beginning nor end, will never leave them nor forsake them.

"The word to conjure with is 'brotherhood.' Twenty years ago, when I came to Lowell, the institutional church was in the saddle, and Berkley Temple was its model. It has passed into the history of the past. The social church has taken the place of the institutional church. If this church would be the church of the living Christ, doing his work, it must be brotherly; it must be social. We believe in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man; and this church, planted in the heart of this modern Corinth, must have its doors open on every side. Some day there will come in this city, somewhere near this place, that Protestant cathedral that shall stand for the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The secret of success for this church lies in the fact that it shall be brotherly to men of every faith and women of every color; that we shall open wide our hearts to welcome men. Remember the shut-in and the invalid for whom no one seems to care, who do not come to church, but who are our strongest support, our highest glory, and our greatest need. We should be satisfied with nothing else.

"In closing, let me express my deep appreciation of all the friendship, loyalty and brotherhood of this church. Two churches I have loved and I shall love them forever: 'that church in New Hampshire which I left with almost as great sorrow as I leave this, and it is a great joy to me to go back to that church and to find it going on its way with high and noble purpose and pure devotion to Jesus Christ. I find here today some friends from that church who are helping me in my work, and I love for itself, for its loyalty and its friendship. I am sure it will go on serving its day and generation, set in this modern Corinth, doing the work which God bids it do.

"I am grateful to these boys and girls who have sung in the choir without money and without price. I thank God for the young men and women of the chorus, who, year after year, have sung their songs without money and without price. It is rather peculiar to this church. I thank God for those here and those on high who have made this church possible without sacrifice. The only way, still, is the way of the cross. I have feared for some time that perhaps we have lost something of the spirit of self sacrifice. Success is assured only by this same noble purpose of devotion to Christ. For the future it will depend upon you more and more—such one of you—to play your part. Do not let all of the responsibility lie upon the officers, trustees and standing committee.

"We shall always be friends. Already, members of this church are meeting in the west, to greet me when I come.
"May the Lord bless you and keep you!"

Rockefeller's Sermon
NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—John D. Rockefeller in a talk to the young men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church yesterday expressed hope that his son would enter the ministry. Mr. Rockefeller's text was: "And, what wilt Thou have me do?" and he said:
"I got down on my knees night and morning for four years praying that God might impart to me what He wished me to do, and one morning I awoke convinced that the answer to my prayer had come and the course of my life has been shaped by that answer ever since."

DYNAMITE WAS FOUND

That Was Buried 12 Years Beside Car Line

DOSTON, Oct. 28.—Street car service over a quarter of a mile stretch of the Bay State street railway in Middleton was discontinued all day yesterday, while residents of the town, with officials of the railway and members of the state police were stirred to activity by the finding of several charges of unexploded dynamite under the surface of the public road running alongside the railway in the section known as "the ledge," near the Andover line. The car runs from Salem to Lawrence.

It is claimed that the dynamite had lain unexploded for 12 years, since the roadway was widened by blasting and the street car line laid. Rigid investigation will be made today by the state police, aided by the railway officials, to determine where the dynamite came from and who is responsible for its presence in the road.

The charges were discovered Saturday. The section of the roadway there is being made over by a contractor into a state road. One of the workmen unearthed a charge of dynamite, and word was at once sent to the state police. The contractor also notified the railway that he would not be responsible for any injuries to their property or passengers in the event of such dynamite exploding. Later six other unexploded charges were unearthed.

No more cars were run over the section. All cars stopped on the sixth of a mile on either side of the ledge, passengers dismounted and walked to the car waiting at the other side of the danger zones.

Twelve years ago there was an explosion of dynamite at this point which resulted in the death of one man and injury to 30 more.

THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Drinking More Whiskey Than Ever Before

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The American people are drinking more whiskey and beer and smoking more cigars and cigarettes than ever before in history, according to tax returns recently by Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue. From July 1 to Oct. 1, 1912, more than 3,500,000,000 cigars were smoked, an increase of 1,000,000,000 over the corresponding period of the previous year, which broke all records.

The nation consumed 32,150,000 gallons of whiskey during July, August and September, an increase of 450,000 gallons, as compared with that quarter of 1911, while nearly 1,500,000,000 cigars were smoked during that time. The cigar consumption promises to establish a new record.

A total of 19,900,000 barrels of beer were consumed during the three months, which was 320,000 barrels more than in the same period of 1911.

This somewhat surprised revenue officials as beer drinking fell off considerably during the fiscal year ending June 30 last. That decrease was partly accounted for by Commissioner Cabell by the increased popularity of butter-milk as a summer drink. The growing consumption of these articles has greatly augmented the government's revenue. The internal revenue receipts for October, already more than $2,000,000 greater than October, 1911, will reflect all records for any October in the judgment of Mr. Cabell.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY

The families who are complaining of the high cost of living should realize that an opportunity will be offered them at the polls on November 5th to bring about the desired remedy. We have full confidence that the election will result in a great democratic victory, but, nevertheless, voters must not relax their energy in making the majority in favor of the democratic party as large as possible.

Already it is conceded even by prominent republicans that Gov. Wilson will be the next president of the United States and that congress will be democratic. Unless Gov. Wilson be given a democratic congress to carry out the proposed reforms the reduction of the high cost of living will be delayed. There may be some doubt in regard to the United States senate as the senators are chosen by the state legislatures. We must repeat, therefore, that it is of the utmost importance that democratic representatives and senators be chosen for the state legislature. Thus alone will the nation be assured of a democratic senate at Washington, without which no real reforms can be accomplished.

The average family does not realize to what an extent it is taxed through the excessive tariff. It has been estimated by reliable authorities that the extortions made under the high republican tariff amount to $415 a year for every family in the United States. Of this amount, says Senator O'Gorman of New York, the sum of $16 goes to the government and $99 to the trusts. This amount is paid upon the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the furniture of our homes and almost everything we can buy. The single item of sugar is estimated to cost the average American family $8 a year. Cotton fabrics are taxed 38 per cent, and woollens 50 per cent. In spite of these oppressive taxes, however, the textile factories pay the lowest wages of any industry in New England. In the recent session of congress the democratic house framed a bill for the reduction of the tariff on cotton goods but it was vetoed by President Taft. A bill to reduce the tariff on woollens was also vetoed. President Taft made the excuse that the tariff board had not reported on the difference in the cost of production of woollen goods in this country and abroad. He vetoed the cotton bill because he claimed it did not conform with the tariff board's report. Now, however, a member of the tariff board has made out schedules showing that the bills vetoed provided for a reasonable tariff, that is a tariff that would meet the difference in the cost of production between this country and abroad. It is, therefore, plain that President Taft without any reason except to maintain the policy of the standpoint element vetoed these measures thus holding the extortion in force. It is estimated that under the woolen tariff the people of this country are needlessly robbed of $30,000,000 for the benefit of the American Woolen Company. President Taft by his vetoes made it impossible to remove this and various other burdens imposed by the tariff upon the people at large.

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

It is to be hoped that the discourses of tuberculosis Sunday will turn the attention of the people to the necessity of a continuous campaign against this dread disease. The education of the people who need enlightenment upon the means of preventing this disease has been well started. It should be kept up incessantly by boards of health and by other public bodies working for the benefit of humanity. It is a fact that there are more deaths from tuberculosis in this city than there should be. By this we mean that many of the fatalities might have been easily prevented by proper precaution at the right time. Lowell has not as yet a tuberculosis hospital, but without such a hospital, which would be very expensive, the work can be carried on very effectively if the right methods be adopted not only by the board of health but by other organizations interested in promoting sanitary improvements.

We need better dwellings in many districts and we need agencies that will impress upon the minds of those who need it most, the vital importance of cleanliness, sunshine, fresh air, good food and right living conditions. Many of the victims of this disease come from other countries in which they followed the simple life of agricultural pursuits and when they come here and enter the factories, the change of climate, occupation, food and living conditions, operates to reduce the system to a condition in which it becomes an easy prey to tuberculosis and other diseases.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST

Humphrey O'Sullivan, the democratic nominee for congress, is in a way a national figure owing to his reputation as the inventor of rubber heels. He is a man of very considerable executive ability, abundant energy, enterprise and vitality. We have no doubt that he would initiate more useful legislation than would Mr. Rogers, not only because of his activity but because he belongs to the right party. Already he has thoroughly acquainted himself with the needs of the district and he is absolutely free to work for the advancement of the industrial and economic conditions of the district and for the benefit of all its people.

On the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable, Mr. O'Sullivan has already planned, if elected, to enlist the support of all the congressmen from New England in order to secure an appropriation that will get the work so far advanced that its completion will be a certainty.

He has also in mind a scheme for cooperation between Massachusetts and New Hampshire for the protection and conservation of the Merrimack river from its source so that the volume of water may be increased rather than diminished as the years go by. In this matter his aim is to benefit in every way possible the present industries of the Merrimack valley and to encourage new industries to locate along the river banks above and below Lowell. This is but a single example of the thorough manner in which he would take up problems on the proper solution of which the future welfare of Lowell and the rest of the district largely depends. We are therefore convinced that the people of the district will do what is for their best interests if they elect Humphrey O'Sullivan, the democratic nominee, to congress.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND

Governor Wilson has set the example of publishing the contributions to the campaign before election. The total is $678,364 and the contributors number 53,363. There are no trust contributions, the largest single donation being that of Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, who gave $13,000. There is not a dollar from T. F. Ryan or August Belmont, who, according to some of the republican editors, are financing the democratic campaign.

This method of conducting elections by which corporations are forbidden to contribute was first proposed by the democratic party and was pushed through congress mainly by democratic influence.

WONDERS OF SURGERY

The Rockefeller Institute which kept alive a heart removed from its owner for 104 days, now announces that a heart, stomach and kidneys removed from their encasement of flesh are performing their normal functions under treatment in a laboratory. Of course the organs are not those of a human being; but nevertheless, this feat is regarded as marking the foundation of a new era in surgery and one that will enable the surgeons to venture farther than ever before in combating disease.

THE CASE OF GENERAL DIAZ

President Madero of Mexico will deserve the reprobation of the civilized world if he permits the proposed shooting of General Diaz and one of every ten rebels captured. Such treatment would be a disgrace to civilization and would brand the Madero regime as one of extreme barbaric cruelty.

The detectives have found another crank looking for Roosevelt. Reports of this kind are expected to serve instead of campaign speeches and with better results on election day.

Seen and Heard

The woman who marries for money deserves all the unhappiness that she doesn't usually get.

Some people have the mistaken idea that if a family keeps a cat, it never has mice in the house.

The young man who is always willing to take father's advice about everything seldom gets left out in the cold.

Even worse than the man who tells all he knows is the man who tells a lot he doesn't know.

Considering how much comfort there is sometimes in a good old-fashioned sneeze, it is certainly one of the most inexpensive luxuries.

When a man does something foolish in public he tries to laugh. When he does something foolish at home he swears.

It takes a brave man to admit that he is a coward.

Judging by appearance a most of the girls you meet on the street haven't asked themselves: "Does that look well on me?" but: "What is the latest style?"

The theory that lightning never strikes twice in the same place has about as much to support it as the theory that a man can love but once.

Doesn't it exasperate you, though, to have somebody ask you: "Did you fall?" when you have tripped over something and come down with a bump?

A girl can be just as happy returning in the street car at midnight from a ball with a man showing in her front hair, if she doesn't know it.

The scheming young man at college doesn't ask father for money very often. He asks mother and mother puts it up to father.

When your salary is increased five dollars a week, the way to do is to put four dollars of the extra money weekly in the bank, instead of increasing your expenses ten dollars a week.

The accidental establishment of a telephone connection, recently caused the arrest of an intoxicated man, for beating his wife.

During the fracas, the wife took down the receiver and the enraged husband tore it from her, leaving it dangling in the air. In fancied security that there was nothing to prevent him from venting his drunken rage on a frail woman he proceeded to convulse his wife that he was still the male of his species. But as the man says, "That wasn't all." The telephone operator, or supervisor, was soon at work locating the house of the strangled husband. She notified the police, who were quickly on the trail. Within a few moments from the time the alarm was given the man was locked up.

THE OLD QUESTION

They sat upon the porch, within the shadow of the vine. The moonlight night was calm and still. The cool air was like wine.

They sat together, side by side, His arm around her waist, And she somehow did not object. Or say it was misplaced.

The words he whispered in her ear Her gentle bosom stirred. For all it was the same old tale That girls have always heard.

And then she asked, with wistful air, Her foolish brain a-whirl: "Oh, did you ever say that, dear, To any other girl?"

The club committee is planning to give a series of special "days" and "nights" such as "Edible Oils and Board of Trade Night," when some prominent lecturer will speak on something of local interest, also a "D. A. R. day," a "Women's Club day," a "Military day," and a "Mothers' day." The lectures will be limited to a half hour each, to make room for the other attractions, including the demonstrations in chemical analysis, which will be of special interest. Some of the lectures will be illustrated with a stereopticon.

TO BE PULLED OFF NOVEMBER 5

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE HELD

At Immaculate Conception Church

Announcements were made at the services of all the Catholic churches Sunday morning of the observance of All Saints day and All Souls day, next Friday and Saturday, respectively. Friday, a holy day of obligation, is a double feast, being also the first Friday in November and confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening at all the Catholic churches in preparation for the holy communion Friday morning.

Immaculate Conception Church The anniversary of the translation of the relics of St. Verecunda was celebrated yesterday at the Immaculate Conception church. The sanctuary was decorated with palms and flowers. The mass of holy relics was celebrated at 11 o'clock by Rev. Herbert Bissette, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Owen P. McGuire, deacon and Rev. Brother James McCarlin, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. From the text, "Render unto Caesar, etc.," contained in the gospel of the Sunday, Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan delivered a very eloquent and instructive discourse on the relation of church and state. He dwelt on the intimate association of these two qualities in the case of the devout Catholic, considering the different things which the church and state have in common and giving examples of their mutual help.

Brought Relief to "Shut-in"

When Hannaford was recovering from his automobile accident which kept him in bed a couple of months, he found great comfort in the telephone.

He had an extension telephone set beside his bed, and not only kept in touch with his business, but had daily chats with his friends.

The telephone in the home is a boon to the "shut-in."

St. Patrick's Church The high mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Timothy Callahan and Rev. Joseph A. Curtin preached a very instructive sermon. It was announced that the masses in observance of All Saints' day, on Friday, which is a holy day of obligation, will be at 5.7 and 8 o'clock, with a high mass at 9 o'clock. Vesper services will be held in the evening at 7.30 o'clock.

St. Peter's Rev. W. George Mullin celebrated the high mass yesterday morning at St. Peter's church. Rev. John P. Burns preached a very instructive sermon, taking for his subject: "It is a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from their sins," in accordance with the approaching feast of All Souls' day. These were the words of Judas Maccabaeus, the ancient Jewish teacher, and said Fr. Burns, it were well for us to profit by the saying and pray for the dead. He told of how the Jews of old appreciated the truth of this saying, and urged his hearers to follow their example, for by praying for the souls of those who have passed away, that they may be liberated from purgatory to enjoy eternal happiness, we obtain a powerful intercessor in our behalf before the throne of heaven. The music at the 11 o'clock service was especially fine, the solo parts being taken by Miss Gertrude E. Keleher, Miss Vera Moody, James E. Donnelly, John P. Roane and Frank J. Kane. Friday being the feast of All Saints, is a holy day of obligation, and masses will be celebrated at 5.7, 8 and 9 o'clock. The holy hour service will be held Friday evening.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. James Heffernan, mother of Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, curate at St. Peter's.

Next Sunday will be the regular communion day for the members of the Immaculate Conception sodality. St. Margaret's A meeting of parishioners was held last evening, at which committees were appointed to take charge of the first reunion of St. Margaret's parish, which will be held in Associate hall on Nov. 29. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was aroused in this event, and the pastor, Rev. Charles Galligan, expressed himself as highly pleased with the outlook. Mr. George P. Green was elected general manager, Mr. Jax P. Hennessey, assistant and Mr. Thos. J. O'Donnell, floor marshal, Miss Katherine V. Hennessey will be in charge of the candy table. The masses on Friday will take place at 5.6 and 7.30 o'clock, and holy hour service will be observed in the evening at 7.30.

A magnificent sanctuary lamp has been suspended in the sanctuary of St. Margaret's church, and was viewed for the first time by the parishioners during the dedication services last Saturday. The lamp is a memorial of the late Rev. J. Harkins, the first pastor of the church. It is of Spanish design, surprisingly beautiful, and in pleasing conformity with the scheme of the interior construction of the church itself. This lamp was given by the ladies of the parish and the committee in charge of the purchasing and other arrangements beg to express their appreciation of the assistance rendered them by the ladies.

St. Michael's Rev. Dennis Murphy celebrated the high mass yesterday morning at St. Michael's church and Rev. Francis Mullin preached. It was announced that masses will be celebrated on Friday, at 5.7 and 8 o'clock, the latter being a high mass. On Saturday masses will be celebrated at 8 and 9 o'clock with a solemn mass of requiem at 9 o'clock. Holy Hour devotion Friday evening at 7.30. Holy Rosary devotions every evening.

Sacred Heart Church The Children of Mary received holy communion in a body yesterday morning at the half past seven o'clock mass. Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., celebrated the high mass and Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., delivered the sermon of the day. Tomorrow morning at nine

JUDGE PARKER SPEAKS TONIGHT

Former Candidate for President
Will Address Big Democratic Rally in Associate Hall

All aboard for the big democratic rally at Associate hall tonight. Judge Alton B. Parker, permanent chairman of the Baltimore convention, will be present and will speak. It will probably be the only speech that Judge Parker will make and the national committee assigned him to Lowell by special request of Humphrey O'Sullivan. The following telegram has to do with the assignment:

Hon. New York, Oct. 24, '12.
Hon. Humphrey O'Sullivan, Lowell, Mass.
Have assigned Hon. Alton B. Parker to speak at Lowell, evening of Oct. 28. (Signed) Homer S. Cummings.
Hon. David I. Walsh, candidate for Lieutenant governor, will address the citizens of Lowell at tonight's rally and a bumper crowd is expected.

Interest in Contests
Renewed interest in the senatorial and representative districts in doubtful districts in this state will be taken by the democrats as the result of a statement given out yesterday by Hon. Woodrow Wilson in which he called upon the voters of the states in which

United States senators are to be chosen to vote for the democratic legislative candidates.

Gov. Wilson's statement says: "I am particularly anxious that the democrats of those states in which senators are chosen should remember that the control of the government depends as much upon the majority of the senate as upon the majority of the house. I hope that in those states particularly special attention will be concentrated upon the necessity of obtaining a majority in the state legislature."

In Massachusetts despite its former republican majorities in senate and house the democrats this year have hope of electing a United States senator, and Hon. John F. Fitzgerald appears to be the unopposed candidate. Throughout the state every effort is being made to increase the ranks of the democratic complement under the guidance of Fisher of Westford, who has had two terms in the house where he has

MANY TOWNS TAKEN AND 40,000 RIFLES AND MASS OF AMMUNITION ABANDONED

BELGRADE, Serbia, Oct. 28.—The Servian troops have taken the town of Mitrovilza on the railroad to the north of Uskup and Verizovitz has also fallen into their hands, according to a despatch from the Servian base at the frontier. Fifteen quick firing cannon, 40,000 rifles and a mass of ammunition were abandoned by the Turkish troops during their retreat.

All the neighboring small towns also are surrendering to the Servians.

The Turkish army, after abandoning Uskup, retreated toward Velos, the men throwing away their rifles in their flight. Hundreds of wagons full of supplies were left behind.

ADRIANOPLE PROBABLY ISOLATED

LONDON, Oct. 28.—Since the capture of the town of Eski Baba by the Bulgarian troops very little news has been received from that region, where the future of Turkey in Europe may be decided within a few days. A short message from Sofia, however, says the Bulgarians have seized a Turkish train on the way to Adrianople. This indicates that the Bulgarian invaders have cut the railroad and thus isolated Adrianople from its base, thereby accomplishing one of the greatest strokes of the campaign.

At the same time the Bulgarian armies are carrying out a wide sweeping movement reaching almost to the shores of the Black Sea and still other Bulgarian columns are completing the circle around Adrianople. How far these combined movements have been successful the outside world is not informed, but the Bulgarians assert that the fate of Adrianople is practically sealed.

Despite the perils of the situation, however, the Turks have not lost all hope of retrieving themselves. According to a despatch from Constantinople received here today by way of Rumania, Rumania, sufficient Turkish reinforcements have now reached the front to enable the Turkish commander-in-chief to assume the offensive. It is stated that three Turkish columns are moving toward the north and that these columns are to be supported by other Turkish troops being taken by water to the Turkish ports on the Black Sea.

Whether they will be in time to do any good is problematical. The despatch says, too, that the Turks have recaptured Marasch from the Bulgarians.

In view of the big events in the eastern region of the theatre of war the achievements of the Servian army have been somewhat lost sight of. The Servians, from which Europe did not expect much, are now in possession of virtually the whole of old Serbia and in conjunction with the Montenegrins hold the best part of the district of Novipazar.

The Montenegrins, hampered by rain and the stubborn resistance of the Turks, are still hammering away at Tarakosch and Scutari.

The Bulgarians, Servians and Montenegrins have taken a total of 10,000 prisoners and 250,000 field guns according to carefully tabulated estimates.

All the invaders of Turkish territory are establishing civil administrations in the towns captured by them, which is taken as further evidence that they have no intention of giving up any of the captured territory without a struggle.

The Greeks who have been left out of some calculations in regard to the future now put forward a claim that that portion of Turkey in which the Greek army is operating must fall to them.

In a semi-official statement the Greeks point out that the country mentioned and that to the north has a purely Greek population who naturally expect that under no circumstances

MATRIMONIAL

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place this morning at Notre Dame de Lourdes church in Branch street, when Mr. Arthur Gregoire, a popular clerk at the St. James hotel, and Miss Georgiana Dupuis, a well-known young woman of the Highlands, were united in the bonds of matrimony. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial high mass celebrated at 8 o'clock by the pastor, Rev. Leon Lamotte, O. M. I. During the mass special singing was provided for by the Misses Della Lavigne and Irene W. A. Parthenals. Mr. H. A. Racicot directed the choir and Miss Alma Alexander presided at the organ.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white duchess satin with an overlace skirt and carried white chrysanthemums, while the bridesmaid, who was Miss Bernadette Dupuis was attired in pink messaline with an overlace skirt; she carried pink. The best man was Mr. John Benoit. The flower girl was little Miss Dorothy Carey.

After the mass the bridal party repaired to the home of the bridegroom's parents, 317 Westford street, where a dainty wedding dinner was served. In the receiving line with the newly wedded couple were the bridegroom's parents. The dining-room was beautifully decorated with palms and presented a fine appearance. Among the guests were friends from Boston, Roxbury, Concord, Nashua, Springfield, Chicago. This evening a brief reception will be held at the Highland hall and at 8:40 o'clock the happy couple will leave for Boston and from there they will proceed to Providence, R. I., where they will spend a couple of weeks. Upon their return they will make their home at 8 Coral street. Mr. and Mrs. Gregoire were the recipients of many costly gifts, among them being several fine pieces of silverware and cut glass.

CHAIRMAN M'COOMBS
Says That Wilson Will be Elected

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Chairman McCoombs of the national democratic committee issued a statement containing his last weekly forecast and exhortation in behalf of the election of Gov. Wilson to the presidency. The statement is divided in two parts.

"Inside information," declares Mr. McCoombs, "gives us final proof that the party which polled more than 6,000,000 votes four years ago will poll nearly a third more than that this year and the number will be made up of many republicans. Defeat is now virtually inconceivable."

Elsewhere in the statement the manager warns his followers that they must not lay down arms till the election is passed and they must be prepared for "eleventh hour" efforts of their opponents. President Taft is called "inefficient but well meaning," and Col. Roosevelt's followers are declared to have tried, vainly, to "capitalise the shocking performance of an irresponsible person."

Annual Reunion

A very enthusiastic meeting of the members of St. Margaret's parish was held in the church last evening, at which it was decided to hold the annual reunion of the parish in Associate hall on Wednesday evening, Nov. 20. There was a large attendance and all will work untiringly to make the affair a grand success. Rev. Fr. Galligan will meet the heads of committees this evening and several sub-committees will be appointed.

COOK DESCRIBES CONFERENCES

That He Says Took Place Between Ortie McManigal and Ryan

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 28.—Conferences between Ortie McManigal, the confessed dynamiter, and Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge & Structural Iron Workers, were described by E. F. Cook, a stenographer at the "dynamite conspiracy" trial today.

The defense had maintained that Ryan never had talked to McManigal and that the entire responsibility for causing explosions rested in J. J. McNamara.

Cook, who now lives at Charlton, Ind., was formerly employed by McNamara in Indianapolis. On August 25, 1910, he testified, McNamara came into the Iron Workers' office and asked for McNamara.

McNamara was out, so I told Mr. Ryan, said Cook. "Ryan ordered me to escort the visitor into an inner office, which I did."

"Did they close the door?" the witness was asked.

"Yes, they closed the door and were alone in the room."

McManigal had just returned from Kansas City, Mo., where he blew up part of a bridge being constructed over the Missouri river.

Cook testified that after the Los Angeles Times building was blown up, J. J. McNamara locked himself in his office and devoted himself to reading newspapers. Later, the witness said, McNamara disguised himself and started to meet J. B. McNamara, his brother, at a town in Nebraska, where J. B. was to go on his way back from Los Angles and after hiding for two weeks in Salt Lake City.

The witness also said Ryan had knowledge of the $1000 given monthly to McNamara to pay his expenses. Cook also identified a telegram sent by McNamara to Henry Leggett at Pittsburgh, saying: "Come on, I will be at headquarters Monday and Tuesday." In response the witness said, Leggett, a member of the union executive board who now lives at Denver, appeared with a suit case which has been identified as having been made to carry a twelve quart can of nitro-glycerine.

PRISONERS MADE THEIR ESCAPE

Insane Men at State Farm Forced the Iron Grating in the Day Room

BRIDGEWATER, Oct. 28.—Forcing the heavy iron grating of a window and scaling a high wall by fashioning bed clothing into a rope ladder, three prisoners last night escaped from the criminal insane department of the state farm here.

Within 10 minutes their escape was discovered, and although all the officers connected with the state farm and the police department throughout southeastern Massachusetts began a systematic hunt at once the men were still at large at a late hour.

They are Alfred Girard, aged 28; Louis B. Rogers, 32; and Wm. Sullivan, 34, who had been confined to the institution for periods varying from 1 to 12 years.

Early last evening the three had been placed in the smoking room in the criminal insane section. Unobserved they made their way into what is known as the day room, adjoining here they succeeded in forcing the iron grating from a window and dropped into the yard.

One of the men had succeeded in smuggling out a quantity of bed clothing. With this fashioned into a rope ladder, they scaled the 15-foot wall that surrounds the buildings and one by one dropped over the other side to liberty.

When the absence of the three prisoners was discovered within a few minutes after they had successfully negotiated the high wall, their method of escape was quickly traced. There was nothing to show in what direction the men had gone once they gained the outside of the wall, and the state farm officers and police of this and surrounding communities had no definite clues on which to work. It is believed that the men kept well together in leaving the vicinity of the institution however.

Girard had been in the department for the criminal insane since 1905. He was sent here from Cambridge Jail, where he had been sent for a term of five years for committing arson.

Rogers had been here a year, coming from Barnstable Jail, where he had been sent to serve a six months' sentence on statutory charge. He is a native of Harwich.

Sullivan had been confined here since 1906. He was sent to the institution from Charlestown state prison, where he was sent to serve out a sentence of 15 to 20 years for breaking and entering. He is a native of Worcester.

BOYS STARTED A FIRE THE LIQUOR SITUATION

In Unoccupied House in Market Street Court Decision

Mischiefous boys started a fire in a pile of paper and other refuse in an unoccupied house in the rear of 450 Market street shortly before noon yesterday, but it was quickly extinguished by the firemen who responded to an alarm from box 125.

The door of the tenement, which had been unoccupied for a long time, was blocked and it is said that boys living in the vicinity have been playing in the house lately.

The fire was kindled in the rubbish on the floor of an upper room and was extinguished without any damage to the building, with the exception of the smoke and ceiling of the room in which it started.

The building is the property of the Hennessy heirs.

The started in the boiler of the factory of Patrick O'Hearn on Warren street, filled the building with smoke and caused the sending in of a full alarm at 2:40 yesterday afternoon. There was plenty of smoke in the building, but no fire other than that in the boiler.

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—When the supreme court of Illinois handed down its decision abolishing 3000 saloons in Chicago, there was great rejoicing among the anti-saloon forces. Closer investigation of the order, however, changes this exultation to dubious fear that much harm has been done. It is said the number of saloons will not be diminished.

This was announced last night by members of the city council who represent the saloon element. They are framing a new ordinance to be hurried through this afternoon, providing that all the saloons now in existence shall continue.

The city already is facing a grave financial crisis because of the loss of $3,000,000 revenue by a recent decision in a railroad tax case.

The supreme court order cutting off 3000 saloon licenses would cut off another $1,000,000 revenue and the city will evolve some means of averting this. It was said last night that all the licenses will be renewed and that the license fee may be increased from $1000 to $1500.

Saloon men are understood to favor the higher rate, provided they are given the privilege of transferring or selling.

Another feature of the supreme court order is the tremendous political power it places in the hands of the mayor. Under the Harkin ordinance, which will be repealed today, licenses, once obtained, had to be renewed unless the holder was guilty of some outrageous conduct. Even then he could transfer the license to some other person. There is a premium of $2500 on some licenses.

Under the new order no old numbers will be recognized and applicants must take what they get in the order of their applications. This means, with five applications for every license to be issued, that many will come from his friends and withhold the privilege from his opponents.

In other words every saloon will be a recruiting point and headquarters for the political henchmen of the mayor. Any saloon exhibiting lithographs of an opposing candidate or permitting any political work not favorable to the administration can be deprived of its license and this can be issued to some man who is loyal.

The new ordinance to be rushed through today is also expected to remove some of the restrictions against saloons within a prescribed distance from schools, churches and parks. This restriction has always been fought by the saloon element and the opportunity now offers to abolish it.

Under the supreme court finding there can be but one saloon to every 500 population, but it is understood the new ordinance will translate this to mean the population in certain districts, and by crowding saloons up in the coveted area around schools, and especially the parks, all the 3000 cut off by the supreme court decision can be taken care of.

The Chicago Liquor Dealers' association and the district council of the Illinois Liquor Dealers' association will hold an emergency meeting to meet the situation.

John Haskell, president of the Chicago liquor dealers, said last night that saloon keepers and liquor dealers would stop at nothing to accomplish their end.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

There was a large attendance at the regular meeting of Waverly lodge, Sons of St. George in Odd Fellows hall. President Harry L. Francis presided and considerable routine business was transacted during the evening. Two candidates were initiated by the degree team. It was announced that Supreme President Fred Barlow would be unable to be present at the 30th anniversary of the lodge on Nov. 2, owing to illness in his family.

P. G. P. John Orrell paid a glowing tribute to the memory of the late brother William Kerzhaw. He referred to his untiring work in the lodge during its early years of existence and of his faithfulness to any office or committee to which he was elected. The charter was ordered draped for 30 days in his memory.

The entertainment committee served refreshments after the lodge session and a general good time was enjoyed. The anniversary committee met after the lodge and completed plans for that affair. Nomination of officers will be the principal business at the next meeting, Friday, Nov. 8.

CUT BY GLASS

Louis Lavoie, a Bay State Motorman, Hurt in Rear-End Collision at Haverhill

HAVERHILL, Oct. 28.—Louis Lavoie of Lawrence, a motorman on the Bay State street railway, was cut about the face by broken glass in a rear-end collision of two electric cars on the state highway near Athlete park on Oliver street yesterday evening.

Lavoie was running on a trailer that left this city at 9:25 last night and after the first car had cleared the switch at the end of the double track on River street the second car, which was a short distance behind, started. The second car made the switch when it jumped ahead on the passenger rails and crashed into the first car. The vestibules of both cars were damaged, the windows being broken, and Lavoie, who stuck to his post and tried to avoid a collision, was cut about the face by the flying glass. Both electric cars were crowded with passengers, but none was injured. Two women passengers whose names were unknown were terrified by the accident and after being quieted they boarded the first car and proceeded.

O'LEARY SHOT

Mystery in Case of Telegrapher, Fired On, it is Charged by Section Hand at Charlestown, N. H.

CHARLESTOWN, N. H., Oct. 28.—Arthur P. O'Leary was shot in the breast at 2 o'clock yesterday morning near the E. & M. R. station, it is charged, by Giuseppe Miccuto, employed as section hand on the railroad. The cause of the shooting is a mystery. They had had no altercation and there had been no trouble between them previously.

Surgeons attending O'Leary found the ball, evidently from a 32-caliber revolver, had penetrated, lodged under the left arm pit and that he has chance of recovery. Miccuto was arrested by the local officer and will be taken to Claremont for a hearing.

AUTOISTS WERE DROWNED

Ferry Carrying Machines Struck by Raft

BELVIDERE, N. J., Oct. 28.—Four members of an automobile party bound for Shawnee, Pa., from their homes in Noble, Pa., were drowned in the Delaware river yesterday while being ferried across from Delaware, N. J.

The dead are Mrs. Leon N. Gilbert, Miss Rebecca Tyson, Mrs. H. W. Trump and Leon Gilbert, Jr., seven years old.

There were eight members in the party, in two automobiles. In one machine were Leon N. Gilbert, his wife, daughter, Miriam Gilbert, and son, Leon Gilbert, Jr. In the other automobile were Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Trump, Rebecca Tyson and Nathan Trump.

The party motored up through New Jersey yesterday, and arriving at Delaware drove the machine on the flat-bottomed boat used as a ferry at that point. When the middle of the stream was reached the boat was struck and knocked from its course by a raft.

L. N. Gilbert and H. W. Trump were thrown into the water and swam to the Pennsylvania shore, while Miss Gilbert and Nathan Trump jumped on the raft and managed to wade to the New Jersey shore when the raft swung that way. The others clung to the machines and when the ferryman lost control of the whirls were thrown into deep water.

when he saw an auto shoot out from a line of cars going up the incline toward Metford. In attempting to get ahead the car was seen to hit another car, bound toward Everett, on the side and throw out one of the passengers.

Mr. Fernald then steered into the curbing at the right of the road and applied his brakes just as the Woodward car crashed into it.

Mrs. Nichols was thrown from the auto and landed on her back between the car and a fence. By a miracle she escaped serious injury. Mr. Fernald, who was driving the car, and Mr. Nichols, who was in front with him, were both slightly injured about the legs. Donald Fernald was injured internally.

In the Woodward car were four passengers, none of whom were seriously injured. All received a severe shaking up. The two autos were badly damaged, the radiator being smashed in, wheels broken and front equipment battered to pieces.

NINE IN AUTO CRASH

All Luckily Escaped Serious Injury

EVERETT, Oct. 28.—Henry B. Fernald, his wife, young son, Donald, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Nichols, all of this city, experienced a narrow escape from serious injury while returning from a trip to New Hampshire last night, when an auto, owned and operated by Arthur W. Woodward Jr., 21 Robertson street, Quincy, crashed head-on into their car.

The accident happened on the easterly side of the bridge over the Western Division tracks on the W. & M. R. boulevard, Metford, at 5:40, just previous to the collision Mr. Fernald saw the Woodward car hit another auto, causing a woman to be thrown out and rendered unconscious. This came of the woman could not be learned.

Mr. Fernald was cautiously descending the incline going toward Everett

GOV. WILSON WANTS SENATE

The Democratic Candidate Announces His Plans for the Rest of the Campaign

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 28.—Gov. Woodrow Wilson would like to see a democratic majority in the United States senate as well as in the house representatives. To further that end, he issued a statement last night calling upon the voters in the several states where United States senators are chosen to vote for the democratic legislative ticket.

The statement says:

"I am particularly anxious that the democrats of those states in which senators are to be chosen should remember that the control of the government depends as much upon the majority in the senate as upon the majority in the house. I hope that in those states particularly special attention will be concentrated upon the necessity of obtaining a majority in the state legislatures."

The nominee said the states he had in mind were New Jersey, Colorado, Idaho, Iowa, Montana, Delaware, West Virginia, Wyoming and Nevada.

The governor announced last night his plans for the remainder of the campaign as follows:

Monday, Oct. 28—Leave Princeton in morning. Speech at Westchester,

Pa. at noon. Speeches at Academy of Music and Convention hall, Philadelphia, at night.

OL. TEDDY ROOSEVELT

Observed 54th Anniversary of Birth

OYSTER BAY, Oct. 28.—Col. Roosevelt's 54th birthday passed so uneventfully as to make it extraordinary. Despite his venture of Saturday he did not get out of doors at all, and until the hour for the early afternoon dinner arrived he remained entirely indoors, reading a little but devoting most of the time to Quentin, who came from Groton for the anniversary. Mrs. Roosevelt and daughter, Ethel, went to the Episcopal church for the morning service and were there when Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. with his wife and baby daughter arrived from the city. Dinner lasted less than an hour, and Col. Roosevelt then turned his first attention to the congratulations that poured in yesterday as numerically as yesterday.

John L. Sullivan was the first to get message through yesterday. Writing from North Abington, Mass., he said: "Every good wish to you on your 54th birthday, and God's blessings as well as yours."

Col. Roosevelt sent this reply: "Good luck to you John. Am very much pleased by your telegram."

One early came to Sagamore Hill—a painting, which a 60-year-old Boston woman, smartly clad in black silk, carried to the house. She walked three miles from the station, and when she had given the painting into the artist's custody walked back. She asked that her name be withheld, and it was.

One gift that especially pleased Col. Roosevelt came early in the day. It was Carl Runquist's bull moose, a widely known and vivid canvas.

The painting came from A. Hecksher of East Neck, Huntington, L. I., and so gratified the colonel that Mr. and Mrs. Hecksher were invited to tea yesterday afternoon.

The Emileen Roosevelts came to Sagamore Hill soon after dinner. At 2.30 Oscar S. Straus, accompanied by his wife, called to pay his respects. They remained with the colonel but a moment despite his urging that they stay for tea.

It was announced last evening that Col. Roosevelt will not make any speech at Brooklyn Saturday night. His only speech, besides that at Madison Square Garden, will be in the Lyric theatre, Oyster Bay, the night before election.

KANE IS DEAD

Drinks Quart of Whiskey at One Pull and Then Staggers Home to His Death

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—In winning a bet that he could drink a quart of whiskey at one pull, Edward Kane lost his life yesterday. As he died in agony at his home to which he had staggered from an East Side saloon after downing the whiskey, he told his wife what he had done and charged that John Mann had made the wager and had bought the whiskey for him.

The police arrested Mann on a technical charge of having been implicated in Kane's death.

THE COMPENSATION ACT

Solicitor Earl Reviews Its Operations

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Solicitor Charles Earl, of the department of commerce and labor, has just submitted to Secretary Nagel, of that department, a compilation of his opinions dealing with the Government Workmen's Compensation act, under which compensation is granted for injuries to artisans or laborers employed by the United States. This is the pioneer among compensation acts in this country. Since its enactment, sixteen states have passed laws of a similar character, and the number is very likely to be increased during the coming sessions of state legislatures.

Very general public interest which attaches to such legislation led Secretary Nagel, last July, to direct the publication of the solicitor's opinion under this act, as illustrating the construction and application of a law providing compensation as contrasted with a law giving a right to sue for damages. The opinions are now in course of publication by the department, which will issue the volume within a week or two.

The money benefits paid under this act between August 1, 1908, when it became effective, and December 1, 1911, aggregated $704,814.60 paid to injured persons on account of non-fatal injuries and $112,878.02 paid to surviving dependents on account of fatal injuries. Since December, 1911, additional benefits amounting to nearly $200,000 have been paid. During the first year after the passage of the act, 1895 claims were submitted, of which 1889 were allowed. During the second year, 2624 claims were submitted and 2499 allowed.

The present statute applies only to artisans or laborers employed in certain specified branches of the public service, or in certain hazardous occupations under the government. Any workman covered by the act who is injured in the course of his employment is entitled to receive for one year thereafter, unless sooner able to resume work, the same pay as if he continued to be employed, except where the injury was due to his own negligence or misconduct. If the injury results in death during the year, the compensation allowed is payable to the widow or children or dependent parent. The act is administered by the secretary of commerce and labor, who is authorized to decide all questions of negligence or misconduct, who is made the sole judge as to when a claim is established, and whose decision is final. Payment of compensation under the act is made from the ordinary appropriations for salaries.

The solicitor emphasizes that feature of the act which permits of the establishment of a simple and direct mode of procedure, whereby technicalities and delays are avoided and the relief can be speedily given, and the further feature, whereby the government is forbidden to exempt itself from liability by any contract, agreement, rule or regulation. In this connection he says:

"The prompt payment of compensation at a time when the bread winner is stricken and money is most needed, without forcing the claimant to pursue an elaborate, expensive and dilatory process of proof, is one of the striking features of the act. Being so, it is its nature a remedial statute, it is rightly susceptible of a liberal interpretation, as contrasted with a strict interpretation, in order to bring home the benefits intended. Such has been the interpretation regularly applied by the secretary of commerce and labor, without, of course, disregarding any of the limitations of the statute, or extending it beyond its terms."

In speaking further of the nature and benefits of the act, the solicitor states that it marks a distinct step in advance, and substitutes an enlightened modern view for certain obsolete doctrines of the common law, since it not only gives a remedy where none existed before, but it waives the right of the government to exemption from liability and dispenses with the necessity of appeals to congress in individual cases. He says in this regard:

"The solicitor notes that over 17,000 accidents were reported under the act during the first three years of its operation, whereas only about 8000 claims were filed, due to the limited scope of the law, and strongly urges this as an indication of the need of extending the benefits of the act by supplementary legislation. Such legislation has in fact been recommended by the secretary of commerce and labor, and measures designed to enlarge the scope of the act are now pending in congress."

BADLY DAMAGED BY FIRE

Big Blaze in Lawrence Caused $2500 Loss

LAWRENCE, Oct. 28.—A general alarm of fire from box 22 was sounded at 5 yesterday afternoon for a blaze in the row of one-story wooden buildings, commonly called "Ten-footers," on Essex street between Mill and Jackson streets. The loss is about $2500.

The fire started in a rubbish box in the alleyway at the rear of William Kileen's clothing store, 116 Essex street, and spread upward between the studding to an air chamber between the ceilings of the stores and the roof. The flames were eating their way through the roof when Engineer Carey ordered the second alarm.

The property is divided between various owners, including the Swensen heirs, a man named Martin of Medford, Mrs. E. Robinson, Gustav Stackelhaus, the Beetle heirs and Henry J. Koellen & Co.

The tenants comprise Maurice Noonan & Co., A. R. Schmidt, Alfred Thorne, William Kileen, William Levine of Haverhill, Martin & Leber, S. Sandler & Co., Gustav Stackelhaus, Maurice Bloom, Gould dye house and H. J. Koellen & Co.

MAYNARD BOY KILLED

The child's skull was fractured. The boy was within a few yards of his home when the accident happened. The car was bound for Concord and was in charge of Motorman Arthur Woodman.

THE TRIAL OF ETTORE

Postponed Because of a Juror's Illness

SALEM, Oct. 28.—Because of the continued illness of John W. Carter, a juror in the murder trial of Ettore Giovanniotti and Caruso, the case was again postponed today until Wednesday. Carter, who was taken sick with grippe Friday night, was reported to be improved, but his physician advised that he remain in his room for two days more at least.

The defendants again consented to the separation of the sick man from the other jurymen.

SMASHED FIVE WINDOWS

Man Was Ejected From St. Charles Hotel

Considerable excitement was caused in Middlesex street about 10.30 o'clock this morning when Thomas Shea, after being ejected from the bar at the St. Charles hotel, turned and smashed five glass windows. Those who witnessed Shea in his glass demolishing act, claim that he had Carle Nation beaten to a standstill.

Shea, it is said, entered the St. Charles hotel bar this morning and ordered a drink, but inasmuch as the man was intoxicated, the bartender refused to serve him. He insisted on having a drink and became so boisterous that he was ordered out of the place.

He left the saloon quietly, but upon reaching the sidewalk he noticed a broom handle sticking out of a rubbish barrel. Taking the broomstick he started to smash the windows in the front of the saloon and when he was finally overpowered it was found that he had smashed three large windows and two smaller ones.

He was arrested by Sergt. Maguire and Patrolman Killroy and sent to the police station where he was booked for drunkenness and maliciously breaking glass.

THE NO-LICENSE LEAGUE

Favors Opening Saloons at 8 O'Clock

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The Massachusetts No-License league is out to change the opening hour for saloons in licensed cities and towns of this state. The league will present before the next legislature a bill to have the hour at which the sale of liquor may begin in the morning changed from the present hour, 8 o'clock to 8 o'clock.

The advocates of this bill are using the workmen's compensation act as a club, urging that most accidents in shops and factories occur between 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon and that the effect of alcohol is most apparent between three and four hours after liquor is taken into the system.

This proposed legislative battle will be one of the most important matters to come before the sixth annual convention of the No-License league tomorrow in North Bedford, Boston. The Rev. Dr. O. P. Gifford of Brookline will introduce the matter in his address on "Results of the Bar and Bottled Law and the Next Legislative Step." The conference will open at 2 p. m.

A banquet will be given at night as the closing event of the day. In connection with the conference there will be a no-license exhibition of the Massachusetts league and special exhibitions from several cities and towns of the state.

Besides the Rev. Dr. Gifford, there are several prominent public men who will address the conference. These include Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard university, who will preside at the evening session; Mayor J. Edward Barry of Cambridge, on "A Quarter of a Century of No-License in Cambridge;" Mayor William P. Connerly of Lynn, on "Five No-License Years in Lynn;" and John T. Shea, past secretary of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America.

The no-license conference tomorrow will award prizes to the individual who comes from the greatest distance in Massachusetts to the convention. In announcing the conference the league has issued a statement relative to its scope and work, also declaring that its work comes chiefly under local option, and that temperance or total abstinence is solely a matter of personal policy.

THE FORDWAY BRIDGE

Work on It is Progressing
Very Rapidly

The work on the Fordway bridge is progressing rapidly and is as far advanced at this time as was expected by Gov. Bros., the contractors. During part of the past week a gang of men has been working all night and it is expected that the bridge will be open for traffic by the first of December.

The construction will be of reinforced concrete and will be 230 feet long by 46 feet wide, including a sidewalk 6 feet wide, and will cost about $23,000 when completed.

There will be a republican rally in the Town Hall, Billerica Centre, tonight at 7 o'clock. The speakers will be Lieut. Gov. Robert Luce of Somerville, John Jacob Rogers of Lowell Alonzo Walsh of Lowell and Chas. H. Williams of Billerica.

Mr. Thomas Ellis of Treble Cove road attended the 14th reunion of the Spanish War Veterans in Boston last Saturday.

Burial was in the Corner cemetery. Among the many floral offerings were: large wreath from family; large spray of chrysanthemums, Mrs. McCall, Miss McCall and Mrs. Winn of Lynn; spray, Mrs. Warren Carter and her Sunday school class; spray of pinks, Mrs. S. J. Green of Cape Elizabeth, Me. The funeral arrangements were under the direction of Undertaker C. M. Young.

The regular October meeting of the Billerica board of trade has been postponed to Nov. 11th the meeting on that date to take the place of both the October and November meetings.

LATEST INSECTS

To Be Branded As Carriers of Typhoid Fever Germs Are Cockroaches and Bedbugs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Cockroaches and bedbugs are the latest insects to be branded as carriers of typhoid fever germs, according to Surgeon R. E. Riggs of the United States navy. Experiments on the cruiser Newark some time ago made Dr. Riggs suspicious of bugs in general and of these two classes in particular. He tells of an outbreak of typhoid at a naval post on an isolated island where he was in charge of the water and food supply. Careful study was made to discover the cause for the alarming spread of the disease and the cockroaches and bedbugs finally were convicted by Dr. Riggs as the distributors.

WILLIAM WILBY IS DEAD

Well Known Belt Manufacturer Passed Away

The many friends of William Wilby, the well known belt manufacturer, will be pained to learn of his death, which occurred suddenly yesterday at his home, 64 Washington street, after only a day's illness. Mr. Wilby was downtown on Friday apparently in his usual good health and spirits. The following day he complained of feeling indisposed and remained in the house, while yesterday the end came peacefully. Mr. Wilby was 63 years of age and was born in Littleton, Liverside, Eng., and came to Lowell at the age of 16 years. He learned the business of beltmaking and when but a young man entered business on his own account on a small scale. Through progressive business methods and strict honesty in all of his dealings his business quickly extended from a local field to cities and towns far removed, causing him to establish his present finely equipped plant at 63 Washington street. He retained an active interest in business up to the time of his death, though for the past several years his sons have had its management. Personally, the deceased was a most lovable character, of sunny disposition, kindly and sympathetic, generous and charitable. His private life like his business career was exemplary. He was essentially a home-body, and while widely known and popular found his greatest enjoyment at the family hearth. He is survived by a widow, Elizabeth J., and six children, the latter being Messrs. Chester P., John C. and Albert E. Wilby; Mrs. Addie M. Chase of Somerville, Mrs. D. A. Goodwin of Lynn and Miss Mattie Wilby of this city. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon.

WOOD AND TESREAU LEAD LEAGUES

Former Has Best Record in Am. League, While Latter Tops National Organization

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—The remarkable run of victories tagged with Joe Wood's name this season looks as if it would clasp down the modern record for major leagues for many years. Thirty-four winnings out of the 32 games for which he was held responsible is a mark that even the Red Sox star himself is not likely to duplicate. It utterly annihilates the previous record of "Wild Bill" Donovan of Detroit, made in 1907, of 25 won, 4 lost, percentage .867.

The only record extant that approaches it is that made in 1875 by Spalding in the National league, who played in 62 games and finished the season with a mark of .839. Donovan's mark was the best of modern days, by which is meant the reorganization period since 1875.

But holding the top place in games won is not the sole achievement of the Red Sox pitching champion. According to the unofficial records his average of strikeouts for the 42 games in which he tossed the rubber is six per game. While Johnson of Washington leads him in total number of strikeouts, his average is slightly below Wood's. Walsh of Chicago, who is tied with Wood at 253 strikeouts, averaged a little over four per game.

Only two American league pitchers passed the hundred mark in number of games on balls—Faler, with 112, and Dubuc, with 105. Dubuc holds the palm for wild pitches, with 14, Johnson being second, with 12. Walsh was the best-out pitcher of the circuit, having worked in 81 games.

In the National league Tesreau of New York holds first honors in number of games won, Cheney of Chicago taking second and Hendrix of Pittsburgh third places. O'Toole of Pittsburgh and Tyler of Boston were the most prodigal with their passes, the former handing out 154, the latter 127.

The strikeout record goes to Alexander of the Phillies, with a mark of 133, ahead of the Giants coming second, with 115. Cheney and Hendrix were the league's wild fingers, the former being charged with 19 and the latter with 13 wild pitches.

The record of Mathewson of the Giants was phenomenal in the matter of steadiness. In the 44 games in which he had a part, he gave only 32 passes, his only two batters and had only two wild pitches. He measured up well to the league's strikeout record, with 132 to his credit.

Lowell High School Eleven Defeated the Boston Latin School Team by a Score of 14 to 0 Saturday

CAWLEY SCORING A TOUCHDOWN IN LAST PERIOD OF GAME

The Lowell High school football team trod upon the much-touted Boston Latin school eleven Saturday afternoon on the Washington park gridiron, and took a 14 to 0 fall out of the visitors. Many have expressed the opinion that the Latin school is represented by the best outfit of any of the schools of the city, and if this is true, the local boys outplayed "Boston's Best" in every department of the game.

A striking improvement in the Lowell players' work both on the offensive and defensive, featured Saturday's exhibition. Throughout the greater part of the game, the front line of the home team was as a stone wall to their opponents who could effect no substantial gains. That dependable combination, Carter and Trull at the ends broke up many formations of the visitors almost before they had started.

Capt. Cartley treated the operators to some brilliant playing in the backfield. To the captain-fullback goes the credit for both touchdowns, the first of which he accomplished after a sensational catch of Snyder's well placed forward pass on the 20-yard line early in the first period. The second tally was made in the third period when after Cartley and Bowers had brought the ball close to the goal of their opponents by effective line rushes, the Lowell captain carried it over, making the score 14 to 0 and this was not changed during the remainder of the game.

In the first half of the contest, long gains characterized almost every play of the local eleven while the Boston men could not seem to play together effectively. Nearly everyone expected the boys from the Hub to walk through the home line from the start and many expressions of surprise were mingled with the cheers when Lowell began to show her unquestionable superiority. Coach Mahoney's boys were evidently in the best possible condition Saturday and every man was a credit to the trainer.

The back field of the Lowell eleven displayed extraordinary strength, especially when on the offensive, for when Boston had the ball, their runners seldom got as far as the backfield. Brunelle, Bowers and Bailey waded through the opposing line for long distances and it seemed as though nothing could stop them. On the Boston Latin team, Capt. Craven, Green and Gerstung were most prominent. At times the visitors made steady advances, but these never were consistent.

The forward pass was effectively employed several times Saturday afternoon by Capt. Cartley's men and they made several exceedingly long gains on this play. The Snyder to Cartley combination was in fine working order and the little quarterback seemed able to place the ball wherever he pleased and the fullback was always right there to pull it down out of the air. Boston showed up best in the third period.

Score: Lowell 14; Boston Latin 0. Touchdowns: Cartley 2; Umpire, Duff; referee, Nescon; head linesman, Roomer; timers, Mr. Irish for Lowell, Mr. Southworth for Boston. Time, two 10 and two 5-minute periods.

Indians vs. Dorchester Prep
The Indians of this city easily defeated the representatives of the Kenwood Prep school at Dorchester Saturday afternoon at the old fair grounds, the score being 16 to 0. Last season the Indians were the champions of Lowell and they should enjoy that distinction again this year for they undoubtedly have a well balanced team. In weight they had a slight advantage over the visitors, but they also showed that they were superior to the Dorchester players in speed as well. The lineup of the Indians was as follows: Lauria, re; Quinn, rt; Moran, rg; Varum, c; Murphy, lg; Ross, lb; Jenkins, 1b; O'Halloran, qb; James Flynn, 1b; Donnellan, rhb; Toy, rh.

The North Chelmsford soccer team defeated the Bunting team Saturday afternoon at the Bunting grounds in South Lowell. A large crowd was present to see the game. The teams were fairly evenly matched, the North Chelmsford team being a little the superior.

Verdict of Chicago Critics is Evers Lacks Temperament

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Johnny Evers' thoroughly wrecked. Victor Saler has appointed as manager of the Cubs developed into an apparently general man, but Johnny will have to get a verdict here that the Trojan hasn't the new shortstop to replace Tinker, and right temperament for a leader, but the responsibility may work a complete change in the great second baseman. His pitching staff is a wreck, and he Evers' greatest difficulty will be in handling Murphy and getting together a ball club that will possess even the dividual possibilities next year now lack, but the best wishes of the baseball world will go with him.

CLARKE PREFERS PLAYING THE BOARD OF TRADE

He Finds Bench Managing Irksome Of Tewksbury to Hold Smoke Talk

"I'm glad I inaugurated my baseball managerial career as a playing manager," said Fred Clarke, leader of the Pittsburgh team recently, "because I doubt very much if I would ever have got successfully as a bench manager."

"Although it may not be apparent to the spectator in the stand, a big league leader in uniform playing a regular position on the field has a tremendous advantage over the man who is running a team from the bench."

"I managed the Pittsburgh team from left field for 12 years, and during that time the club was never out of the first division. We also won a few pennants, captured one world's series from Detroit and lost a world's series to Jimmy Collins' Boston Americans."

"This year I felt that I was due to slow up and benched myself. I thought it would be just as easy to manage the team from the bench, but it hasn't proved so. The way of it is this:

"Bench managers see too much. That may seem an absurd statement, but it's a fact nevertheless. Bench leaders are always 'bawling' the men for 'bone-head' plays. I felt myself doing it this year twice as hard as I ever did when in the game. A player who is in the game every day can't help pulling a 'bunny' now and then. He realizes his mistake, sometimes when it's too late to put on the brakes. Your average bench manager will never concede an 'every' stunt; whereas the playing manager knows that he makes 'em himself occasionally and is more apt to excuse a player's guilty error of omission. That's why I say bench manager sees too much sometimes."

"Ball players are as temperamental as grand opera singers. The least thing will upset 'em, make 'em sulk in their tents, chuck it up and play indifferently. The men have to be handled with gloves, some have to be driven, others require coaxing."

Clarke is one of the greatest batters the game has ever produced.

"Who was the greatest pitcher you ever batted against?" was a question put to Sir Frederick.

"Rube Waddell," replied Clarke. "He had more speed than any pitcher I've ever faced. That goes for 'em all, from Amos Rusie down, and big Amos was some pitcher. Contrary to the general impression, Rusie was not a speed merchant. I know a dozen big leaguers of Rusie's day who had more speed than Amos. The Indiana giant's forte was his curve ball."

"I've never batted against Walter Johnson or Joe Wood. They tell me that Johnson is a cannon ball pitcher, and Wood runs Walter a close second for the fast ball championship of the American league. We've got a few fast pitchers in the National league. Did you ever watch Hendrix of the Pittsburgh team? Few twirlers in the National can shoot a ball over the pan faster than Hendrix."

The committee in charge of the smoker to be given shortly by the Tewksbury board of trade will hold a meeting in the town hall Wednesday evening and there complete arrangements for the event. Notable speakers will be provided for and a general good time is in store for all the members who will attend, while interesting business it is said will be brought before the assembly.

BECKER SAYS HE IS INNOCENT

He Declares That Jack Rose Sought to Be His Stool Pigeon

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—From his cell in the Tombs, the cell he is, soon to leave for the death house at Sing Sing, Charles Becker, the ex-lieutenant of police, now awaiting sentence to death for the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler, issued a statement last night, in which he protested before God that he was innocent of the crime for which he stands convicted.

There was a note of deep despair in the story of the unhappy prisoner told, and he frankly admitted that at this stage in his fortunes he did not know of anything that he could say that would help him and he realized that the public, in general, had come to look upon him as the very worst man in the world.

Becker told his story following a three hours' talk he had with his wife, a talk through the bars of the counsel room, for since the verdict that dooms him, bars must always separate the condemned man from those with whom he communicates. Becker was permitted, through a special order of Charles Commissioner Whitely, to spend most of what was his last Sunday afternoon in New York in conversation with his deeply distressed wife. In place of having to talk to her through the bars of his own cell, where the curious among the prisoners might watch, Becker was taken to the counsel room and through the barred door of that room the former head of the strong arm squad and his faithful wife discussed the great tragedy that has come to darken the life of one and perhaps to end the life of the other.

Mrs. Becker, giving every appearance of mental and physical strain, appeared at the Tombs shortly before 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She had not long to wait for her husband, who was soon brought down by Head Keeper Cummings. Mrs. Becker remained until the very last minute permitted under the prison rules, which was a few minutes before 6 o'clock. Then Cummings opened the door of the counsel room and Becker came out quickly, caught her in his arms and kissed her time and time again.

Slowly Mrs. Becker started for the prison door that opens out into Centre street. Becker stood for a moment watching her and when she disappeared out into the street, he returned sadly to his cell. Then it was that a note was sent to him by the newspaper men. At first he declined to see them, for he said that he had nothing to say. His dinner waited him, and after eating that he changed his mind and sent down word he would see the reporters.

Losing His Haughtiness
It was a sad faced, deeply moved

Becker that greeted the reporters at the bars of cell No. 112. At last he appeared to have lost some of his haughtiness, and even some of the iron nerve that had caused the trial on-lookers to wonder at the strength of the man.

"I am a man," Becker began with great deliberation, "who stands convicted of the awful crime of murder in the first degree. I am a man almost without hope and after all is said and done, I do not know anything that I say that will do me any good. From all that has been said about me the world would think that I was the worst man in it."

"Yet, had I been permitted to take the stand in my own behalf and to have told my own story I believe that the public sentiment that is now arrayed against me would be very different."

"What would you have told?" Becker was asked.

"For one thing," the condemned man replied, "I would have explained the true story of my relations with Jack Rose. It was my intention to have known that man. He was what we of the police call a stool-pigeon, and stool pigeons have been used in the police department of New York since the days of Inspector Byrnes."

"I never in all the time that I knew Jack Rose gave him one dollar for what he did for me as a stool-pigeon. I met him under peculiar circumstances. It was in October of last year, the 11th day of that month, to be exact. At that time Jack Rose ran a house in Second avenue not far from Tenth street, and on the day named and in the line of duty I raided his house."

"After the raid Rose came to me and offered his services to me if I would permit him to run his place unmolested. I told him in answer to that proposition that I could not, and, furthermore, that I would not agree to any such thing. Then Rose asked me if I would deal gently with his friends. He wanted to know if I would show them any consideration for the assistance he tendered, and my answer, as in the first case, was 'no.'"

Denies Rosenthal Friendship
"Did you really and honestly get legal evidence against Rosenthal's place?" Becker was asked.

"So help me God I did, and I am a man convicted of murder in the first degree," was his solemn answer.

"How well did you know Herman Rosenthal?" was another question asked Becker.

"I knew his reputation and his capabilities," was the answer, "for getting police in trouble. I knew that he was the man who got Deputy Commissioner Driscoll out of the department. I knew of half a dozen other policemen, all of whom he had gotten into hot water, and, knowing this, I leave it to any fair thinking man if I wouldn't have been crazy drunk to have made such a man my friend, and I was neither crazy nor drunk."

"Did Rose call you up at your home the night of the murder, subsequent to the commission of the crime?" Becker was asked.

"Rose may have called me up," Becker replied, "but I ask you, is it reasonable to believe that he would use, as you say, a public telephone number to tell me of a murder, when he knew my private number, unless even then the conspiracy was being hatched to place the blame on me?"

"Did you talk to Rose that night?"

SEIZED AT GATEHOUSE

Man and Boy Saved on
Dam's Brink

CLAREMONT, Oct. 28.—Frank Moore, 9-year-old son of Mrs. Elizabeth Moore of Broad street, this town, was almost miraculously saved from drowning in Sugar river at 5 p. m. yesterday owing to the bravery of Albert C. Campbell, who jumped into the river from a bluff and narrowly escaped being carried over a 30-foot dam with the boy.

The boy went out rowing on the river, which was much swollen by recent rains. He found his boat being swept toward the dam and himself threatened with death should he be carried over and dashed on the rocks below, so he jumped into the river and attempted to swim ashore.

His cries were heard by Campbell, who belongs in Waterbury, Vt., but works in Windsor, and was merely a visitor there yesterday. When he reached the boy the latter seized him and the two were swept rapidly toward the dam.

Within 12 feet of the dam is a penstock gatehouse with a window. The only person within sight of the imperiled man and boy was Owen Pardiss, in the gatehouse. He leaned out of the window over the river, and the man and boy floated so near that he was able to catch Campbell by the hand.

Campbell, who was holding the now unconscious boy, passed him to Pardiss. Pardiss then helped Campbell, who was nearly exhausted, through the window also. The boy finally recovered so that he could be taken home.

I. W. W. DEMONSTRATION

Was Prevented by the
Lawrence Police

LAWRENCE, Oct. 28.—The police Saturday afternoon put a stop to the attempt of I. W. W. leaders, in defiance of the authorities, to have a funeral parade for John Smalsky, who died early in the week as the result of injury sustained by an assault.

Instead of escorting the hearse to the church and then to the cemetery, headed by the band, the I. W. W. members and their friends were crowded onto the sidewalks and deprived of their music.

Eight hundred or 1,000 followed in this manner, while three squads of a dozen policemen each marched among them to see that instructions were not violated. The affair passed off without untoward incident, although the situation looked equally when 50 patrolmen, under Asst. City Marshal John Sheehan and several sergeants, broke up the parade that was forming in front of 36 Lawrence street, where Smalsky lived.

Smalsky was assaulted a week ago today following a bar-room row between two groups of patrons, who were ejected. Smalsky was knocked down sustaining a fracture of the skull.

The I. W. W. leaders, who had been accused of all sorts of violence during the textile strike here, charged that Smalsky had been attacked because of his I. W. W. affiliations. The police are investigating and two arrests as accessories have been made.

ALLISON M'FARLAND

Arraigned on Counterfeiting Charge

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Allison McFarland, recently tried for wife murder in Newark, N. J., and acquitted, was arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Shields today charged with counterfeiting. He was arrested under the name of Allison Mason. When asked to plead to the charge, "I am innocent," McFarland was remanded until later this afternoon to await the arrival of his lawyer, Frank McDermitt. Ball was fixed temporarily at $5000. He made this explanation of his having dies and coins in his room when the secret service men arrested him: "I was experimenting with a process for duplicating medals or jewelry for commercial purposes and never made more than half a coin. My process will not produce a whole coin and I have no intention of making or passing counterfeit money."

ROBBED OF CLOTHING

Thieves Strip Man in a Chicago Street

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—Robert L. Harris was held up and robbed of his money and clothing last night after he had left a theatre, and the victim created alarm among pedestrians by dodging among billboards and trees trying to cover his nakedness with shadows. Harris tried to find a policeman, but every time he appeared on the street the sight of women pedestrians drove him back to shelter. Some one finally saw him and called a policeman. Harris was taken to a police station in his under garments and sent home in a patrol wagon in a blanket. Harris told the police that two men met him as he was passing an alley entrance and at the points of revolvers made him follow them into the alley and turn over his valuables and cash. They were about to let him go when one of them decided to "take Harris." The other robber claimed Harris overcoat, and one garment followed another, the robbers complimenting him with mock politeness on the quality of his garments as they aided him to remove them.

Vesper Country Club Notes

A banquet of the class of '92 of Technology is to be held this evening at the club. Mr. E. B. Carney, the class president is in charge of the banquet and practically all of the class will attend. The speaker of the evening is to be Mr. Robbins, the superintendent of the southern division of the Boston & Maine railroad. An elaborate dinner has been prepared and the majority of the class will assemble to enjoy an informal evening.

Mr. Brown is now changing the summer golf course into the winter course. This is done every year, the trees and greens being changed. By doing this the summer course which is used a great deal more, is kept in excellent condition. The course itself remains about the same length, some holes being shortened and others lengthened. Saturday evening the final tournament of the year and all of the members are loud in their praise about the fine schedule arranged by the golf committee.

The awnings are being removed from the porch and it is now being enclosed. This gives the piazza a great deal more room and at the same time makes a delightful sun parlor.

Wednesday evening a dinner dance is to be held at the club which will be attended by many of the members and their families. Elaborate preparations have been made by Mr. Clough and all those who appear are assured of a splendid time. An excellent dinner is to be served which will be followed by dancing and whist.

Hibbard's orchestra is to furnish the music. Everyone expecting to be present should reserve their table immediately. All those not coming to dance may take part in the whist tournament. Appropriate prizes will be awarded to the winners. The club house is to be decorated with oak leaves, cornucopias, pumpkins, in fact, everything appropriate to a Halloween party. All lowball surprises have been arranged for the entertainment committee which consists of Harry G. Tolland, Perry D. Thompson and William G. Brown.

NOT SALTS AND PILLS. CASCARETS

If constipated, bilious, headachy, stomach sour

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel worn out.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passage every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet; liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—do good—never gripe or sicken.

WOMAN'S BODY FOUND

She Drowned Herself and Her Child

EASTON, Oct. 28.—The body of Mrs. Olga Erickson, the Brockton widow who drowned herself and 5-year-old daughter, Gladys, last Friday night, was found yesterday in Langwater pond. Police recovered the remains with grappling irons after a search of many hours. A part of the pond was drained after the child had been discovered floating on the water Saturday.

Patrolman Downey found the mother's body in five feet of water near where the child's body was found.

That the mother, crazed by the killing of her husband four years ago in the George E. Keith company factory, rushed into the waters of the pond Friday night with little Gladys in her arms, was the belief of Patrolman Downey. He said the arms were clasped when the body was found, indicating that she had held the little one to the last.

FULLER'S JAW BROKEN

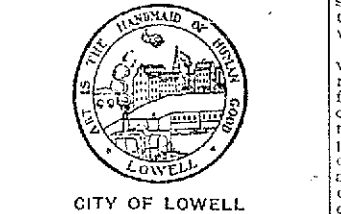

Be Was Then Attacked by Hold-Up Men

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Held up on a dark and lonely path, not 200 yards from the Winthrop Centre station, Albert W. Fuller, 55 years old, of Johnson avenue, Winthrop, fought furiously Saturday night, but without avail, although it was not until his assailants had broken his jaw that they were able to relieve him of $32 in bills.

Mr. Fuller left the train at the station just after 10 o'clock, and started up the path which gives a short cut to Pleasant street. About half way up two men jumped from the bushes and confronted him. Before Mr. Fuller could cry one the two had grabbed him and started through his pockets. He struggled so hard that one finally struck him on the jaw. His arms were then pinioned by one and the other searched all his pockets. In the scuffle one of the men lost his cap, and after they had disappeared into the bushes again Mr. Fuller took it to the police station. The East Boston and Revere police were immediately advised, and Winthrop patrolmen got orders to take to custody any man they saw hatless.

REV. GEO. F. KENNGOTT

His Farewell Sermon at First Trinitarian

Dr. George F. Kennigott preached his farewell sermon at the First Trinitarian church Sunday morning, and there was a large congregation present.

Dr. and Mrs. Kennigott left Lowell today, and Mr. Kennigott will take up his work in Los Angeles, Cal., Sunday, Nov. 3.

Dr. Kennigott's sermon was preached from the text found in Second Corinthians, 12:11:

"Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace be with you."

In part, he said: "Corinthians are a great commercial center, a city of mixed races, of great enterprise, of virtue and vice commingled. Paul never doubted that he had seen Jesus face to face. Jesus was as plain and real to him as he was to John or Peter; and Paul became a great missionary to the Gentiles. He had come to Athens with its learning, and had some measure of success; but he seemed to love particularly Corinth and the Corinthian Christians.

"Though facing difficulties, in prison often, Paul sang songs in the night, and his faith was so implicit that he never wavered in his preaching of the gospel. Now he is bidding these Corinthian Christians farewell, and very beautifully and suggestively, the American revisers insert for the word 'farewell,' the word 'rejoice.' For Paul had a deep sense of joy and satisfaction in the work which he was able to do through Christ with these fellow Christians at Corinth.

"For this church I see today, with the eyes of Christian faith, a future more beautiful and brilliant even than its past. For God, who has neither beginning nor end, cares for his people, will never leave them nor forsake them.

"The word to conjure with is 'brotherhood.' Twenty years ago, when I came to Lowell, the institutional church was in the saddle, and Berkley Temple was its model. It has passed into a moving picture house, and the secular world has taken the place of the institutional church. If this church would be the church of the living Christ, doing his work, it must be brotherly; it must be social. We believe in the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man; and this church, placed in the center of this modern Corinth, must have done every day, every day, some day there will come in this city, somewhere near this place, that Protestant cathedral that shall stand for the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man. The secret of success for this church lies in the fact that it shall be brotherly to men of every faith and women of every color, that we shall open wide our hearts to welcome men. Remember the foreigner within your gates. Remember the shut-in and the invalid for whom no one seems to care, who do not come to church, but who are our strongest support, our highest asset. Then be perfect. We should be satisfied with nothing else. In closing, let me express my deep appreciation of all the friendship, loyalty and brotherhood of this church. Two churches I have loved and I shall love them forever. That church in New Hampshire, among the hills of New Hampshire, which I left with almost a great sorrow as I leave this. It is a great joy to me to go back to that church and to find it going on its way with high and noble purpose and pure devotion to Jesus Christ. I find here today some friends from that church worshipping with us. This church I love for itself, for its loyalty and its friendship, who year after year have been serving its day and generation, set in this modern Corinth, doing the work which God bids it do.

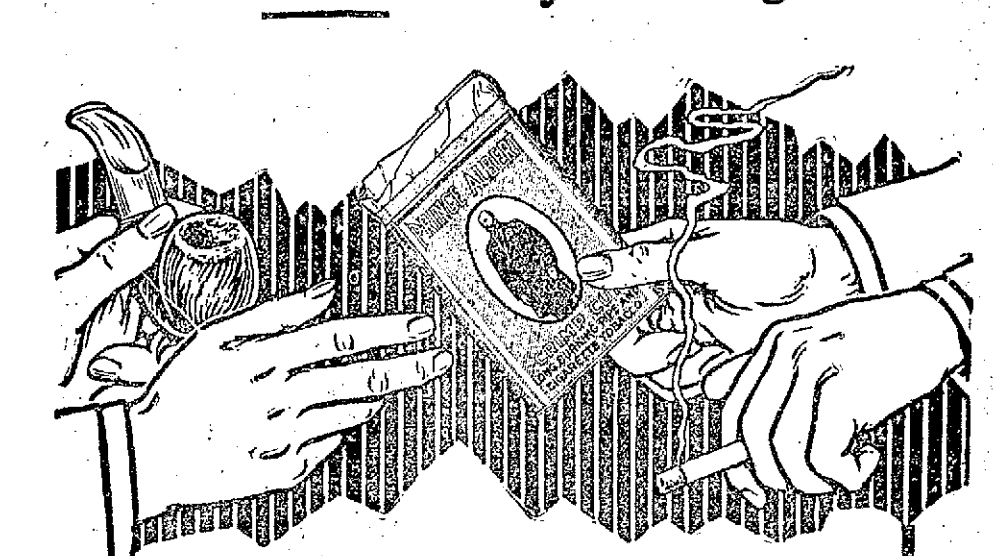

"I am grateful to these boys and girls who have sung in the choir without money and without price. I thank God for the young men and women of the chorus, who year after year have sung their songs without money and without price. It is rather peculiar to this church. I thank God for those here and those on high who have made this church possible without sacrifice. The only way, still, is the way of the cross. I have feared for some time that perhaps we have lost something of the spirit of self sacrifice. Success is assured only by this same noble purpose of devotion to Christ. For the future it will depend upon you more and more each one of you—to play your part. Do not let all of the responsibility lie upon the officers, trustees and standing committee.

"We shall always be friends. Already, members of this church are meeting in the west, to greet me when I come. "May the Lord bless you and keep you!"

Rockefeller's Sermon

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—John D. Rockefeller, in a talk to the young men's Bible class of the Fifth Avenue Baptist church yesterday, expressed hope that his son would enter the ministry. Mr. Rockefeller's text was: "Lord, what wilt Thou have me do?" and he said: "I got down on my knees night and morning for four years praying that God might impart to me what He wished me to do, and one morning I awoke convinced that the answer to my prayer had come and the course of my life had been shaped by that answer ever since."

DYNAMITE WAS FOUND

That Was Buried 12 Years Beside Car Line

BOSTON, Oct. 28.—Street car service over a quarter of a mile stretch of the Bay State street railway in Middleton was discontinued all day yesterday, while residents of the town, with officials of the railway and members of the state police were stirred to activity by the finding of several charges of unexploded dynamite under the surface of the public road running alongside the railway in the section known as "the Ledge," near the Andover line. The cars runs from Salem to Lawrence.

It is claimed that the dynamite had lain unexploded for 12 years, since the roadway was widened by blasting and the street car line laid. Rigid investigation will be made today by the state police, aided by the railway officials, to determine where the dynamite came from and who is responsible for its presence in the road.

The charges were discovered Saturday. The section of the roadway there is being made over by a contractor into a state road. One of the workmen unearthed a charge of dynamite, and it was at once sent to the state police. The contractor also notified the railway that he would not be responsible for any injuries to their property or passengers in the event of such dynamite exploding. Later still other unexploded charges were unearthed.

No more cars were run over the section. All cars stopped an eighth of a mile on either side of the ledge, passengers dismounted and walked to the car waiting at the other side of the danger zones. Twelve years ago there was an explosion of dynamite at this point which resulted in the death of one man and injury to 30 more.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

Rev. Fr. Mitchell was the celebrant at the masses in St. John's church yesterday morning. THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Drinking More Whiskey Than Ever Before

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—The American people are drinking more whiskey and beer and smoking more cigars and cigarettes than ever before in history, according to tax returns received by Royal E. Cabell, commissioner of internal revenue. From July 1 to Oct. 1, 1912, more than 3,500,000,000 cigars were smoked, an increase of 1,000,000,000 over the corresponding period of the previous year, which broke all records.

The nation consumed 35,150,000 gallons of whiskey during July, August and September, an increase of 550,000 gallons, as compared with that quarter of 1911, while nearly 1,250,000,000 cigars were smoked during that time. The cigar consumption promises to establish a new record.

A total of 19,800,000 barrels of beer were consumed during the three months, which was 325,000 barrels more than in the same period of 1911. This somewhat surprised revenue officials as beer drinking fell off considerably during the fiscal year ending June 30 last. That decrease was partly accounted for by Commissioner Cabell by the increased popularity of butter-milk as a summer drink. The growing consumption of these articles has greatly augmented the government's revenue. The internal revenue receipts for October, already more than $2,000,000 greater than October, 1911, will eclipse all records for any October in the judgment of Mr. Cabell.

THE DEMOCRATIC OPPORTUNITY

The families who are complaining of the high cost of living should realize that an opportunity will be offered them at the polls on November 5th to bring about the desired remedy. We have full confidence that the election will result in a great democratic victory, but, nevertheless, voters must not relax their energy in making the majority in favor of the democratic party as large as possible.

Already it is conceded even by prominent republicans that Gov. Wilson will be the next president of the United States and that congress will be democratic. Unless Gov. Wilson be given a democratic congress to carry out the proposed reforms the reduction of the high cost of living will be delayed. There may be some doubt in regard to the United States senate as the senators are chosen by the state legislatures. We must repeat, therefore, that it is of the utmost importance that democratic representatives and senators be chosen for the state legislature. Thus alone will the nation be assured of a democratic senate at Washington, without which no real reforms can be accomplished.

The average family does not realize to what an extent it is taxed through the excessive tariff. It has been estimated by reliable authorities that the extortions made under the high republican tariff amount to $115 a year for every family in the United States. Of this amount, says Senator O'Gorman of New York, the sum of $16 goes to the government and $99 to the trusts. This amount is paid upon the food we eat, the clothes we wear, the furniture of our homes and almost everything we can buy. The single item of sugar is estimated to cost the average American family $8 a year. Cotton fabrics are taxed 55 per cent, and woollens 90 per cent. In spite of these oppressive taxes, however, the textile factories pay the lowest wages of any industry in New England. In the recent session of congress the democratic house framed a bill for the reduction of the tariff on cotton goods but it was vetoed by President Taft. A bill to reduce the tariff on woollens was also vetoed. President Taft made the excuse that the tariff board had not reported on the difference in the cost of production of woolen goods in this country and abroad. He vetoed the cotton bill because he claimed it did not conform with the tariff board's report. Now, however, a member of the tariff board has made out schedules showing that the bills vetoed provided for a reasonable tariff, that is a tariff that would meet the difference in the cost of production between this country and abroad. It is, therefore, plain that President Taft without any reason except to maintain the policy of the standpat element vetoed these measures thus holding the extortion in force. It is estimated that under the woolen tariff the people of this country are needlessly robbed of $50,000,000 for the benefit of the American Woolen Company. President Taft by his vetoes made it impossible to remove this and various other burdens imposed by the tariff upon the people at large.

PREVENTION OF TUBERCULOSIS

It is to be hoped that the discourses of tuberculosis Sunday will turn the attention of the people to the necessity of a continuous campaign against this dread disease. The education of the people who need enlightenment upon the means of preventing this disease has been but well started. It should be kept up incessantly by boards of health and by other public bodies working for the benefit of humanity. It is a fact that there are more deaths from tuberculosis in this city than there should be. By this we mean that many of the fatalities might have been easily prevented by proper precaution at the right time. Lowell has not as yet a tuberculosis hospital, but without such a hospital, which would be very expensive, the work can be carried on very effectively if the right methods be adopted not only by the board of health but by other organizations interested in promoting sanitary improvements.

We need better dwellings in many districts and we need agencies that will impress upon the minds of those who need it most, the vital importance of cleanliness, sunshine, fresh air, good food and right living conditions. Many of the victims of this disease come from other countries in which they followed the simple life of agricultural pursuits and when they come here and enter the factories, the change of climate, occupation, food and living conditions, operates to reduce the system to a condition in which it becomes an easy prey to tuberculosis and other diseases.

THE CONGRESSIONAL CONTEST

Humphrey O'Sullivan, the democratic nominee for congress, is in a way a national figure owing to his reputation as the inventor of rubber heels. He is a man of very considerable executive ability, abundant energy, enterprise and versatility. We have no doubt that he would initiate more useful legislation than would Mr. Rogers, not only because of his activity but because he belongs to the right party. Already he has thoroughly acquainted himself with the needs of the district and he is absolutely free to work for the advancement of the industrial and economic conditions of the district and for the benefit of all its people.

On the matter of making the Merrimack river navigable, Mr. O'Sullivan has already planned, if elected, to enlist the support of all the congressmen from New England in order to secure an appropriation that will get the work so far advanced that its completion will be a certainty.

He has also in mind a scheme for cooperation between Massachusetts and New Hampshire for the protection and conservation of the Merrimack river from its source so that the volume of water may be increased rather than diminished as the years go by. In this matter his aim is to benefit in every way possible the present industries of the Merrimack valley and to encourage new industries to locate along the river banks above and below Lowell. This is but a single example of the thorough manner in which he would take up problems on the proper solution of which the future welfare of Lowell and the rest of the district largely depends. We are therefore convinced that the people of the district will do what is for their best interests if they elect Humphrey O'Sullivan, the democratic nominee, to congress.

THE DEMOCRATIC CAMPAIGN FUND

Governor Wilson has set the example of publishing the contributions to the campaign before election. The total is $978,361 and the contributors number 53,393. There are no trust contributions, the largest single donation being that of Supreme Court Justice Brandeis, who gave $15,000. There is not a dollar from T. P. Ryan or August Belmont, who, according to some of the republican editors, are financing the democratic campaign.

This method of conducting elections by which corporations are forbidden to contribute was first proposed by the democratic party and was pushed through congress mainly by democratic influence.

WONDERS OF SURGERY

The Rockefeller Institute which kept alive a heart removed from its organism for 104 days, now announces that a heart, stomach and kidneys removed from their casement of flesh are performing their normal functions under treatment in a laboratory. Of course the organs are not those of a human being; but nevertheless, this feat is regarded as marking the foundation of a new era in surgery and one that will enable the surgeons to venture farther than ever before in combating disease.

THE CASE OF GENERAL DIAZ

President Madero of Mexico will deserve the reprobation of the civilized world if he permits the proposed shooting of General Diaz and one of every ten rebels captured. Such treatment would be a disgrace to civilization and would brand the Madero regime as one of extreme barbaric cruelty.

The detectives have found another crank looking for Roosevelt. Reports of this kind are expected to serve instead of campaign speeches and with better results on election day.

Seen and Heard

The woman who marries for money deserves all the unhappiness that she doesn't usually get.

Some people have the mistaken idea that if a family keeps a cat, it never has mice in the house.

The young man who is always willing to take father's advice about everything seldom gets left out in the cold.

Even worse than the man who tells all he knows is the man who tells a lot he doesn't know.

Considering how much comfort there is sometimes in a good old-fashioned sneeze, it is certainly one of the most inexpensive luxuries.

When a man does something foolish in public he tries to laugh. When he does something foolish at home he swears.

It takes a brave man to admit that he is a coward.

Judging by appearances most of the girls you meet on the street haven't asked themselves: "Does that look well on me?" but: "What is the latest style?"

The theory that lightning never strikes twice in the same place has about as much to support it as the theory that a man can love but once.

Doesn't it exasperate you, though, to have somebody ask you: "Did you fall?" when you have tripped over something and come down with a bump?

A girl can be just as happy returning in the street car at midnight from a ball with a rat shoving in her front hair, if she doesn't know it.

The scheming young man at college doesn't ask father for money very often. He asks mother and mother puts it up to father.

When your salary is increased five dollars a week, the way to do is to put four dollars of the extra money weekly in the bank, instead of increasing your expenses ten dollars a week.

The accidental establishment of a telephone connection, recently caused the arrest of an intoxicated man, for beating his wife.

During the fracas, the wife took down the receiver and the enraged husband tore it from her, leaving it dangling in the air. In fancied security that there was nothing to prevent him from venting his drunken rage on a frail woman he proceeded to convince his wife that he was still the male of his species. But as the song says, "That wasn't all." The telephone operator or supervisor, as soon as work located her, notified the police, who were quickly on the trail. Within a few moments from the time the alarm was given the man was locked up.

THE OLD QUESTION

They sat upon the porch, within The shadow of the vine,
The moonlight night was calm and still,
The cool air was like wine.

They sat together, side by side,
His arm around her waist,
And she somehow did not object,
Or say it was misplaced.

The words he whispered in her ear
Her gentle bosom ached,
For all it was the same old tale
That girls have always heard.

And then she asked, with wistful air,
Her foolish brain a-whirl:
"Oh, did you ever say that, dear,
To any other girl?"

Reports were read which showed that the success of the armory had already been engaged by many prominent exhibitors, among whom are the Moxie company, Walter Baker and company, the Lowell Electric Light corporation, Lowell Gas Light company, the Baker Extract company of Springfield, the Genesee Pure Food company, G. C. Prince & Co., the D. L. Bates Co., Adams & Co., and the Thompson Hardware Co.

The club committee is planning to give a series of special "days" and "nights" such as "City Officials and Board of Trade Night," when some prominent lecturer will speak on something of local interest, also a "D. A. R. day," a "Women's club day," a "Military day," and a "Mothers' day." The lectures will be limited to a half hour each, to make room for the other attractions, including the demonstrations in chemical analysis, which will be of special interest. Some of the lectures will be illustrated with a stereopticon.

TO BE PULLED OFF NOVEMBER 5

BEAUTIFUL SERVICE HELD

At Immaculate Conception Church

Announcements were made at the services of all the Catholic churches Sunday morning of the observance of All Saints day and All Souls day, next Friday and Saturday, respectively. Friday, a holy day of obligation, is a double feast, being also the first Friday in November and confessions will be heard Thursday afternoon and evening at all the Catholic churches in preparation for the holy communion Friday morning.

Immaculate Conception Church

The anniversary of the translation of the relics of St. Veracunda was celebrated yesterday at the immaculate Conception church. The sanctuary was decorated with palms and flowers. The mass of holy relics was celebrated at 11 o'clock by Rev. Herbert Bissette, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Owen P. McQuaid, deacon and Rev. Brother James McMartin, O. M. I., as sub-deacon. From the text, "Render unto Caesar, etc.," contained in the gospel of the Sunday, Rev. Dennis A. Sullivan delivered a very eloquent and instructive discourse on the relation of church and state. He dwelt on the intimate as-soilation of these two qualities in the case of the devout Catholic, considering the different things which the church and state have in common and giving examples of their mutual help. The choir, directed by Mr. Joseph P. Courtney and with Mrs. Hugh Walker, organist, sang Turner's St. Cecilia mass. The offertory hymn was particularly appropriate to the day. It was Cardinal O'Connell's composition of the hymn for virgin martyrs, "Praelapsa custos virginum," and it was well sung, Miss Nellie Donahoe sustaining the solo.

At vespers the usual special exercises in honor of St. Veracunda took place in the presence of a great throng. Rev. Lawrence F. Tighe, O. M. I., was celebrant of solemn vespers. There was a sermon on the saint by Rev. Fr. Phelan, O. M. I., followed by a procession of the Children of Mary and the Holy Angels' sodality of boys and girls, escorting the sacred relics borne by four brothers in orders from the Tewksbury schoolhouse. All the students of that institution were in the line. The hymn of the saint was sung as the procession moved through the aisles. The choir gave Paulkenstein's Ave Verum and Grisebaird's Te Deum. The service was most beautiful and impressive. The grand church was lighted by hundreds of incense burners and the altar massed with flowers, was one great blaze of light.

The parish reunion will take place on Wednesday evening in Associate hall and elaborate preparations have been made for an entertainment. A pleasant time is assured all who attend.

St. Patrick's Church

The high mass at 11 o'clock was celebrated by Rev. Timothy Callahan and Rev. Joseph A. Curtin preached a very instructive sermon. It was announced that the masses in observance of All Saints' day, on Friday, which is a holy day of obligation, will be at 5, 7 and 9 o'clock, with a high mass at 8 o'clock. Vesper services will be held in the evening at 7:30 o'clock.

St. Peter's

Rev. W. George Mullin celebrated the high mass yesterday morning at St. Peter's church. Rev. John F. Burns preached a very instructive sermon, taking for his subject: "It is a holy and a wholesome thought to pray for the dead, that they may be loosed from their sins," in accordance with the apostle's teaching of All Souls' day. These were the words of Judas Macabbeas, the ancient Jewish teacher, and said Fr. Burns, it were well for us to profit by the saying and pray for the dead. He told of how the Jews of old appreciated the truth of this saying, and urged his hearers to follow their example, for by praying for the souls of those who have passed away, that they may be liberated from purgatory, to enjoy eternal happiness, we obtain a powerful intercessor in our behalf before the throne of heaven.

The music at the 11 o'clock service was especially fine, the solo parts being taken by Miss Gertrude E. Keleher, Miss Vera Moody, James E. Donnelly, John P. Roane and Frank J. Kane. Friday being the feast of All Saints, is a holy day of obligation, and masses will be celebrated at 5, 7, 8 and 9 o'clock. The holy hour service will be held Friday evening.

Tomorrow morning at 8 o'clock a solemn high mass of requiem will be sung for the repose of the soul of the late Mrs. James Heffernan, mother of Rev. Daniel J. Heffernan, curate at St. Peter's.

Next Sunday will be the regular communion day for the members of the Immaculate Conception sodality.

St. Margaret's

A meeting of parishioners was held last evening at which committees were appointed to take charge of the first reunion of St. Margaret's parish, which will be held in Associate hall on Nov. 26. A great deal of interest and enthusiasm was aroused in this event, and the pastor, Rev. Charles Galligan, expressed himself as highly pleased with the outlook. Mr. George P. Green was elected general manager, Mr. Jas. F. O'Donnell, assistant and Mr. Thos. J. McNeill, floor marshal, Miss Katherine V. Hennessy will be in charge of the candy table. The masses on Friday will take place at 5, 6 and 7:30 o'clock, and holy hour service will be observed in the evening at 7:30.

A magnificent sanctuary lamp has been suspended in the sanctuary of St. Margaret's church, and was viewed for the first time by the parishioners during the dedication services last Saturday. The lamp is a memorial of the late Rev. John J. Hartkins, the first pastor of the church. It is of Spanish design, surpassingly beautiful, and in pleasing conformity with the scheme of the interior construction of the church itself. This lamp was given by the ladies of the parish and the committee in charge of the purchasing and other arrangements beg to express their appreciation of the assistance rendered them by the ladies.

St. Michael's

Rev. Dennis Murphy celebrated the high mass yesterday morning at St. Michael's church and Rev. Francis Mullin preached. It was announced that masses will be celebrated on Friday, at 6, 7 and 9 o'clock, the latter being a high mass. On Saturday masses will be celebrated at 5 and 7 o'clock with a solemn mass of requiem at 9 o'clock. Holy hour devotion Friday evening at 7:30. Holy Rosary devotions every evening.

Sacred Heart Church

The Children of Mary received holy communion in a body yesterday morning at the half past seven o'clock mass. Rev. T. Franklin Wood, O. M. I., celebrated the high mass and Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., delivered the sermon of the day. Tomorrow morning at nine served with a flawless record, from a strong republican district. That same district which has already honored Rep. Fisher is included in his senatorial district. The seventh district showed a large progressive vote in the presidential primaries and as a result the progressives have a candidate in the person of John E. May, of Acton, who is expected to draw a large vote from the republican ranks. The republican candidate is Alonzo G. Walsh, who has not yet declared with any great amount of noise his preference between Taft and Roosevelt. If the democrats of wards five and nine together with those in the towns of the district vote solidly for Rep. Fisher, he will be elected, for his predecessor, ex-Rep. Killey of Lynn, came close to carrying the district last year with no split in the republican party. Much has been said from time to time about the long struggle to bring about the "River Road" between Lowell and Lawrence, which is now being completed by the state after years of agitation. The matter was almost hopelessly tied up at the beginning of this year when Rep. Fisher took it up and carried it through to a successful conclusion. That's one matter that divides Rep. Fisher to the consideration of his constituents without regard to party affiliation.

JUDGE PARKER TO SPEAK

In the eighth district Senator Barlow has no high road to success, for he is being actively opposed within his own party by a strong progressive candidate in the person of Rep. Robert W. Dineenbridge, of Pepperell. The democratic candidate, Henry J. Traver, has shown strength as a vote-getter, and this year has paid more attention to the towns of the district with the result that he expects a much larger vote from that source than he received before. This is another case in which democratic success can be achieved only by straight voting.

Rep. Butler's Fate

Never have the democrats had such an opportunity to elect a representative in the 14th district, (ward one and Dracut), as they have this year. Leaving the split in the party out of it and taking Rep. Butler on his legislative record alone, the democrats would have good cause to consider the proposition of defeating him. But the progressives have played in nomination a strong candidate in the person of J. C. Dodge, the former high school athlete who is touring every corner of the district with Rep. Butler's record at his tongue's end and is confident of polling a large vote. Michael E. Brady, the democratic candidate has never held office but has shown exceptional strength as a vote-getter. Mr. Brady should receive every democratic vote in the district and if he does he will go to the legislature. Mr. Brady is well known in labor circles and as the district is made up largely of working people his candidacy should appeal to them strongly as opposed to that of Rep. Butler whose sympathies as regards legislation have been the other way and who attempted to deprive the working people of one of their great sources of innocent pleasure and recreation, by introducing a bill to prohibit all Sunday concerts.

The 14th District

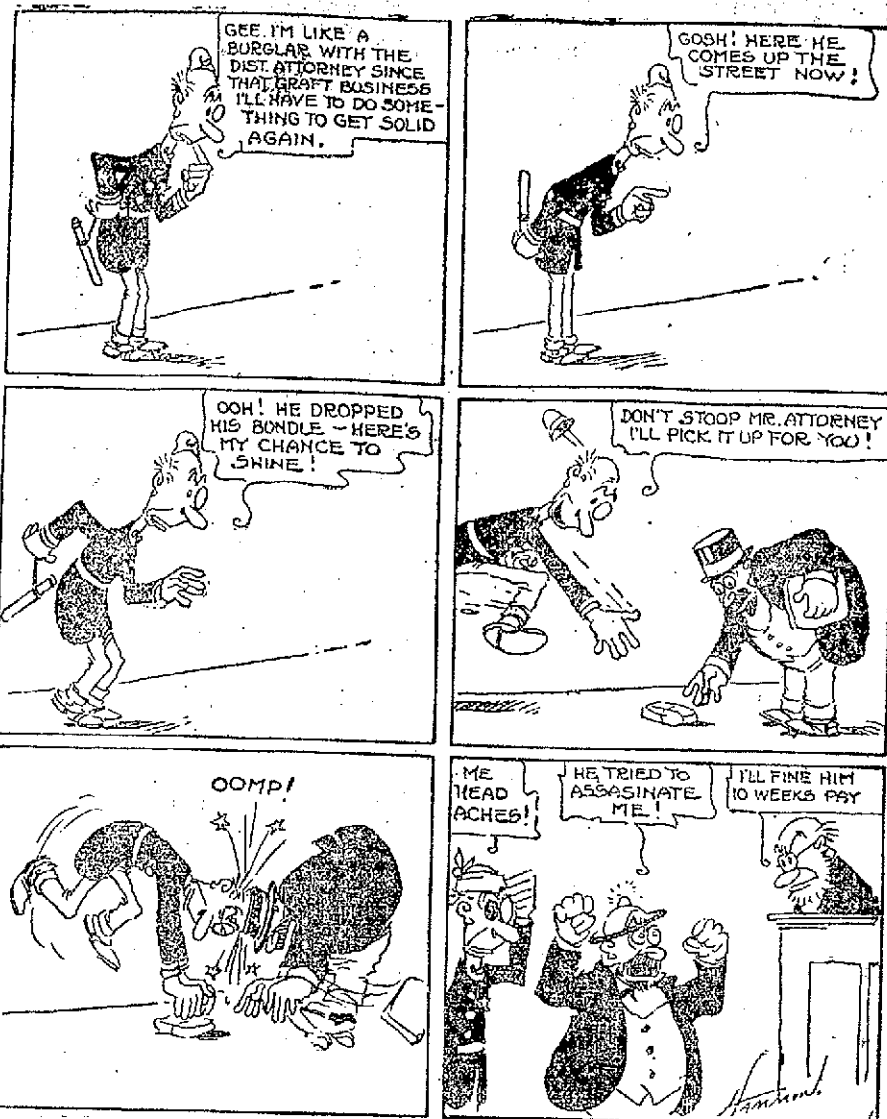

Again in the 17th district the democrats can make a showing by straight voting where Messrs. Victor Jewett and Henri Achin are seeking re-election opposed by two particularly strong candidates in ex-Alderman Joseph J. O'Connell and Joseph F. Bittely. Last year Messrs. Jewett and Achin made their good showing for they received many votes on the strength of good fellowship. But once in the legislature they immediately became straight-republicans and forced their democratic friends. When the municipal council went before the legislature seeking relief from conditions brought about by republican mismanagement in Lowell they found Messrs. Jewett and Achin among their bitterest opponents who opposed the measure proposed by the municipal council which happened to be composed mostly of democrats. The measure proposed was for the benefit of the city, but these two men put aside the city's interests for political purposes.

18th District

Rep. Craig, the republican candidate in the 18th district while possessed of a legislative record singularly distasteful to that of Rep. Butler has a democratic candidate in the person of William H. Kennedy and a "democratic progressive" candidate in Patrick S. Peppard, Jr. to oppose him according to the lists at the state house. The only hope the democrats can possibly have is to centre upon one candidate and have the progressive do likewise.

19th District

Disquieting rumors come from Billerica in the 19th district relative to talk of cutting Rep. Thomas C. Cuff on election day. Rep. Cuff defeated Thomas Sheridan for the democratic nomination in the primaries, but it appears that one of Mr. Sheridan's friends is not satisfied to abide by the result of the primaries but is shouting loudly for Rep. Mr. Williams, the republican candidate, and needs his election. This year of all years the democrats of the district should stand by Rep. Cuff to a man in view of the facts presented at the beginning of this article. Furthermore Rep. Cuff has one of the finest legislative records that was ever piled up by any Lowell representative and for this he is entitled to consideration. Rep. Cuff has had the interest of his entire district at heart all the time and his work in behalf of the town of Tewksbury, the pure drug laws and other measures of state-wide

ALGY, THE COP

Importance has made him one of the best known and most respected members of the house. It should be said in justice to Mr. Sheridan that this late day opposition to Rep. Cuff does not come from him but from one disappointed friend of his.

Republican Candidate For Congress
Addressed Crowd at Tremont & Suffolk Mills This Noon

John Jacob Rogers, republican candidate for congress, addressed a gathering of about 100 employees of the Tremont & Suffolk mills at the Suffolk street gate this noon. Mr. Rogers rode to the gate in his automobile and reached there at 12:30 o'clock. He then began his address, talking from a large packing box.

He spoke on the corporations, the question of taxation and then referred to his opponent.

The speaker said that there should be a regulation of the corporations. Every public or private corporation should be regulated, he said, and this can be done by sending a man to Washington, where he can see and act on all measures, in the welfare of the people, and accomplish the best for the public.

"This I will do if elected. I will be on the alert for the best interests of the people, and especially those who comprise the fifth district. You have all heard of taxation, and I want to state to you that I believe in the income tax, but I believe in a graduated form of the system that will make the rich man pay more for his share and the poor man less for his portion."

"Another thing I want to speak to you about is an article, written by my opponent which appears in a local paper. In this article he attacks my good father. It is a violent attack and I am not going to offer any defense. But I will rebuke it and will make him stop it. And I want you to rebuke it. My father is not the candidate."

"These things, gentlemen, I want you to rebuke, and these attacks are being made to injure me. But you may turn the searchlight on me and also inquire from your friends whether they want Humphrey O'Sullivan of John Rogers. Ask my friends in this district who have known me all my life, and who know something about me, and if this is done I feel sure that you will cast your ballot for me."

After the meeting Mr. O'Sullivan and Major Robert A. Crowley, his campaign manager, went to Boston to meet Judge Alton B. Parker and they will return to Lowell in company with Judge Parker and Hon. David I. Walsh, both of whom will speak at the rally in Associate hall this evening.

The rally at Associate hall will be preceded by a parade led by the Lowell Cadet band. The parade will form at the Richardson house at 7:30 o'clock and will proceed to Associate hall.

Tomorrow at noon Mr. O'Sullivan will speak at the gates of the Tremont

& Suffolk mills and the Lawrence hospital.

POLITICAL NOTES

The progressives crusade to the state house, which was to be a great demonstration of popular demand for a special session of the legislature to take up the question at once of a primary for the direct election of United States senators was a complete fizzle. About two dozen weak and bedraggled looking martyrs followed Col. Fiske to the headquarters of the republican and democratic parties and then to the state house. There a committee of five was permitted to leave a petition to Gov. Foss in the hands of his secretary to be given to the governor upon his return from a campaign trip.

Wilson Clubs

Two more Woodrow Wilson clubs in affiliation with the Woodrow Wilson League of Massachusetts have just been organized at Danvers and Rockland. The president and the secretary of the Danvers club are respectively, J. Ellis Nightingale and Andrew H. Paton. George E. Mansfield, secretary of the Rockland democratic town committee, reports that the Wilson club of that town has upwards of 250 members, and estimates the vote of that town as: Wilson, 500; Roosevelt, 400; Taft, 300.

Tariff Chamber of Horrors

The "Tariff Chamber of Horrors," under the auspices of the Woodrow Wilson League of Massachusetts, will be thrown open to the public at 99 Summer street, near Bedford, at noon on Monday, Oct. 28, and will be exhibited free and fully explained to all comers until the night of Nov. 2.

An orchestra will furnish music at the opening and addresses will be made by Gov. Foss, Mayor Fitzgerald, the Hon. Charles S. Hamlin and the Hon. Sherman L. Whipple. The exhibit will be in charge of Mr. Reuben J. Wittstein, who showed and explained it to thousands at Detroit, from which city it comes to Boston. As an object lesson in the effect of the tariff upon the cost of living, this exhibition is believed to be a powerful argument for the election of Wilson and Marshall.

Do You Know—

That you should never use soda for washing enamel pans? A little salt or lime applied with a soft cloth will remove all stains, and the pan should be thoroughly rinsed afterward with warm water.

That to keep the coffee pot sweet and clean you should put a tablespoonful of carbonate of soda in it, fill it nearly full of water and let it boil for a little while? Then rinse very thoroughly with several lots of warm water. If this is done once a week the pot will always be fresh and nice.

That if all dish cloths and tea cloths are soaped and well rinsed out every time they are used they will be trouble all to keep clean? It is much easier to have three or four cloths in use than one or two stained and greasy ones.

That dishes in which flour and eggs have been mixed can be quite easily cleaned if they are allowed to stand in cold water for a few minutes before washing? Hot water only hardens the mixture and makes it very difficult to remove.

STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE OVER $1000 WAS RAISED

Man Was Injured While Riding Bicycle

For the Greek Red Cross Fund Yesterday

Joseph Fern, who lives in Lakewood avenue was struck by an automobile this morning while he was riding near Merrimack square on a bicycle and was painfully bruised about the thigh and lower limbs. He was taken to St. John's hospital for treatment, where it was learned that his injuries are not serious. The bicycle was completely wrecked in the collision.

A mass meeting was held in Associate hall yesterday afternoon in behalf of the Greek Red Cross association, the purpose of the meeting being to raise funds for the said association for the support of widows and orphans of Greek soldiers, now engaged in the war with Turkey.

There were fully 1500 people present and it is said over $1000 was contributed. President Elias J. Houppis of the local branch of the Pan-Hellenic union occupied the chair and he introduced as the first speaker Lawyer J. Joseph Hennessy, who made an eloquent appeal for the contribution of funds, and he explained that what the Red Cross association is doing in foreign countries. Other speakers were: Rev. C. H. Demery, pastor of the Holy Trinity church; Mr. Chrysos, esq. of Boston; Dr. J. Gatsopoulos, Dr. O. Gennaris and George Couzoules, a director of the union.

A subscription was taken up at the close of the meeting and it proved very successful for over $1000 was taken in. A committee was named to go among the Greek operatives and to solicit funds for the Red Cross association of Greece of which Princess Sophia is president.

FLANDERS VS. SHARKEY

Case Went to the Jury This Noon

The case of Rose Flanders vs. James Sharkey, both of Somerville, which was opened in the superior court on Friday afternoon, was resumed this morning. The arguments were made and the case was given to the jury just before noon.

The case, which is now on trial is that of Mary Deery against the town of Concord, in an action of tort. The plaintiff alleges that while she was walking along a public highway in Concord, which is known as Common wealth avenue, as a result of striking a defective plank, she was thrown to the ground, sustaining serious injuries, that caused her great pain and expense. She claims that she was exercising due care at the time of the alleged accident, and charges that the defendant is responsible for her sufferings. The jury was empaneled and the plaintiff's declaration and the defendant's answer were read.

Before court adjourned for the lunch hour, Judge McLaughlin, upon being informed that the case would continue through the day, dismissed the jurors not serving, as well as the attorneys in other cases, until tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

A New Bracelet

If you have an old fashioned black onyx arm band set with pearls wear it. It is as absurd as fashionable.

A large band looks smaller below a black bracelet and one woman with rather red hands wears an inch wide band of velvet around each wrist, for which she has jeweled clasps, changed to match her gowns.

Sometimes these velvet bracelets are set with large diamond or pearl buttons, planned with a canno or a seed pearl brooch.

A fashionable series of bracelets that can be had in French jewelry is made of thin hoops studded with colored stones. An emerald hoop, a diamond, a ruby and a pearl one are worn together.

MAN WAS FOUND DEAD

He Had Refused Medical Attendance

Edward Edmunds, aged 60 years, was found dead in his bed at his home in Appleton street this morning. Not much is known of the deceased, but much as he came to this city but a short time ago. He was employed by Carroll Bros., plumbers, for a time, and a short while ago complained of being ill. He went to his room and while sitting he refused medical aid. His condition was not thought to be serious, and he retired last evening at his usual hour. Upon not answering to a call this morning, investigation showed that the man was dead. The body, after being examined by the medical examiner, was removed to the undertaking parlors, of J. A. Weinbeck.
